Chinese Told Of U. S. Decision To Withdraw

(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

NANKING, Jan. 29.—(INS)—The United States embassy at Nanking officially informed the Chinese government and the Chinese communists today of America's decision to withdraw from China's internal dispute.

Announcement of the American decision was made simultaneously in Washington and Nanking. U. S. Ambassador J. Leighton Stuart told Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek and communist representative Wang Ping-Nan of the move.

An hour after Chiang was informed of the decision, the central government issued a statement blaming Chinese communists for

PA NEW OBSERVES

Some drivers of automobiles should drive more carefully, as a Newscaster has noticed several times their cars directly in front of a bus just as the operator was ready to start again after passengers had alighted at a street corner.

Pa Newscaster observes that the no parking ban on East Long avenue from Pennsylvania avenue to Grimes street is proving very effective. Traffic is able to move through the area at a much faster pace than heretofore. No autos were seen parking in the restricted zone.

The holiday lighting system which was installed in November in the South Side area still remains, Pa Newscaster finds. The lights have not been burning since New Year's.

A reader of this column has written wondering if a few words could be directed to a number of unthinking individuals who make it a constant habit of taking their garbage from the city and strewing it along the country highways adjacent to the city. The reader stated that near her home there is a spot where such people have made a disgrace to the entire neighborhood and not only that but have created a good breeding place for rats. The writer suggested that the area be posted by the state health department with fines for the offenders if caught.

Vandals evidently have been at work in the East Side area of the city. Pa Newscaster discovers that glass store front was smashed by some instrument. The size of the hammer was that made by an ordinary hammer head.

Pa Newscaster suggests that a number of downtown building owners lengthen the chimney atop the buildings. On murky days the coal smoke belches forth and down in huge gusts on the street below, dirtying up the clothing of pedestrians with soot. The higher chimneys would give the air a chance to catch the smoke and carry it further away.

Dear Pa Newscaster:
Visiting a local store Tuesday morning I accidentally left a package on the counter and making another purchase, I forgot the first package and started to the front of the store. Missing the package, I immediately returned to the counter but the bundle was gone. It had been lifted by some individual. In a matter of a few minutes some dishonest person came along taking

Court May Now Revoke Laraine Day's Divorce

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 29.—(INS)—Actress Laraine Day was under court order today to appear next Tuesday to show cause why her California divorce from Ray Fredericks should not be revoked.

Superior Judge George A. Dockweiler issued the order after assailing the actress' Jarez, Mexico, divorce and El Paso marriage to Leo (Lippy) Durocher as "null and void in every state of the United States."

Judge Dockweiler charged Miss Day obtained her divorce in his court "as a cloak for illegal cohabitation between Miss Day and Durocher as husband and wife."

The jurist became incensed when, after the actress obtained her Los Angeles decree January 13, she and Durocher turned up the following day in Jarez. After obtaining a Mexican divorce in one minute, she and Durocher were married four hours later in El Paso.

Under California law a divorce does not become final for one year.

SAN DIEGO, Cal., Jan. 29.—(INS)—An ex-WAC, 24-year-old Emily E. Williams of Tampa, Fla., surrendered to San Diego police today, declaring she killed "Black Dahlia" Elizabeth Short. Mrs. Williams was quoted by police as saying she shot and then mutilated Miss Short in an auto court on the outskirts of Los Angeles when she found the "Dahlia" with her boy friend.

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 29.—(INS)—Dan S. Voorhees, 32, was booked today as the suspected slayer of Elizabeth Short—"The Black Dahlia"—after he asserted signed a terse one-line confession.

Police said Voorhees telephoned homicide headquarters and asked for Capt. Jack Donahue. Informing Donahue was not in, Voorhees told detectives "I want to talk about the Black Dahlia case."

The telephone voice agreed to meet officers on a street corner. He said he might be identified by his green shirt and khaki trousers. Detectives responded and readily identified Voorhees by his clothing.

Detective Ed Barrett said Voorhees told him he first met the Black Dahlia in 1941 at the same

Third Day Of Discussions Over New Steel Wage Contract In Progress

EARLY AGREEMENT IS NOT IN SIGHT

(BULLETIN)

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 29.—(INS)—Contract negotiations between the CIO-United Steelworkers and U. S. Steel corporation were recessed today until February 6 after two and a half days of discussions.

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 29.—(INS)—Economic and technical phases of collective bargaining were in the forefront today as the CIO-United Steelworkers and U. S. Steel moved into the third day of discussions over a contract.

No early agreement was in sight as officials of the union and the company settled into what both sides termed "real collective bargaining."

Debate Proposals

Proposals by the union and counter-proposals by the company were being debated step by step by officials of both sides, each backed by a battery of attorneys.

Both company and union were cognizant that decisions in the current debates would go far toward setting a pattern for future collective bargaining in all industry in the nation, and neither was in any hurry to reach decisions.

The first shots in both issues have already been fired and each body has been warned to be ready for the "most urgent and important" tasks awaiting solution.

Forgotten Rudder Lock Is Blamed For Plane Crash

COPENHAGEN, Jan. 29.—(INS)—A Swedish aeronautics expert affirmed today that forgotten rudder lock caused the crash of the Dutch airliner at Kastrup Field last Sunday. American opera star Grace Moore and 21 others lost their lives in the crash.

Gunnar Larsson, who is assisting the three-nation investigation of the disaster, said the steel rudder block was found damaged. He indicated it still locked the flaps at the time of takeoff.

One witness reported seeing the lock in place while the plane was grounded.

Larsson declared the lock could not have been damaged if it had been properly removed before the plane began its flight.

Buckingham Palace Scotches New Rumors

Greek Prince Will Not Travel With Royal British Party To South Africa

LONDON, Jan. 29.—(INS)—Buckingham Palace scotched renewed rumors today that Prince Philip of Greece would accompany the royal family on its South African tour.

An early engagement has been repeatedly predicted for the prince, now serving in the British navy, and Princess Elizabeth, heiress-apparent to the throne of Britain.

Taking cognizance of the rumors a palace spokesman said the prince will not travel with the party.

The admiralty stated that the prince is to remain at the training establishment, H. M. S. Royal Arthur, at Gosport, Wiltshire. He is instructor there.

(The Paris radio, heard by NBC in New York, said the French battleship "Richelieu" and two other ships of the French navy will salute the British royal party when it passes near the coast of France on its southward journey.)

BOGOTA, Jan. 29.—(INS)—Seventeen persons, all those aboard the ill-fated Avianca airliner which crashed in the mountainous jungles of Colombia a week ago, were found dead today.

Reports said all 13 passengers and four crew men were killed.

The plane was on a Barranquilla-Bogota flight.

Seek Legislation To Lift Cloud On Sugar Rationing

Appeals Court Grants Stay Of Execution Which Temporarily Maintains Rationing

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29.—(INS)—The administration today looked to Congress for removal of the legal cloud which now threatens to smother the entire sugar rationing program.

A high ration official said that legislation will be sought to free sugar rationing from the restrictions imposed by the war mobilization and reconversion act.

The act has been held by a district court decision to forbid the "historic use" system of rationing sugar to industrial users. The government has appealed that decision, but ration officials concede that by April 1 the sugar supply situation will have improved to a point where there is no doubt that "historic use" allocations are invalidated under the act.

Must Act Before March 31

The same officials contend that there is no other satisfactory system of industrial sugar allocation. They also contend that the prospect of continuing sugar rationing to households will be extremely doubtful if the industrial program is forced into the discard.

Congress will have to take some action before March 31 if it wants to continue sugar rationing. The Second War Powers Act, under which rationing is authorized, expires at that time.

Ration officials would like to see Congress extend the authority for the war mobilization and reconversion sugar program and at the same time act, either by amendment of the act or a special exemption measure.

Prepare For Appeal

Meanwhile, government lawyers are preparing for a February 7 appeal hearing on the judgment invalidating the "historic use" system. The judgment was issued by U. S. District Judge P. Dickinson Lettis

Cigar Store Indian Reported Kidnaped

LOVELAND, Colo., Jan. 29.—(INS)—Charlie, the cigar store Indian, was the object today of a search by Loveland police.

The ancient wooden Indian—with a history which extends over a period of 150 years—was believed kidnapped from his camping ground in front of a sporting goods store in Loveland.

According to Charlie's historians, he began his career, not as a cigar store Indian, but as a figure-head on a sailing ship in the East Indies in 1795.

The ship sank in 1812, but Charlie was rescued. Since then he had spent his feet on dry land as a cigar store Indian and spending some time in curio shops.

Charlie's owners, Walter and Fred Rottmann, set his probable ransom at $500 to $1,000.

Will Continue Luxury Taxes

House Prepares For Quick Passage Of High-War-time Luxury Tax Program

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29.—(INS)—The House geared the ways today for quick passage of a bill to continue the high wartime excise taxes on liquors, furs, jewelry and other luxury items.

Used by President Truman and sponsored by the Republican majority, the measure was guaranteed of overwhelming approval.

Mr. Truman asked for continuation of the high rates after his action in declaring an "end of hostilities" automatically provided that the taxes should drop to their lower pre-war levels on July 1.

The President sought continuation in order to increase government revenues in the 1948 fiscal year by one billion, 130 million dollars.

Rep. Knutson (R) Minn., chairman of the House ways and means committee, and author of an earlier bill to reduce the excises, switched his position and backed the President's continuation proposal.

House members of both parties asserted that Knutson's action grew out of a desire to increase federal revenues in order to make room for his proposed 20 per cent tax reduction bill, estimated to cost three billion 500 million dollars in the current year.

United States Gives Up Job Of Attempting To Establish Peace In China

STATE DEPARTMENT ANNOUNCES MOVE

(BULLETIN)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29.—(INS)—The United States today abandoned plans to bring peace between the warring factions of China and will withdraw its 10,000 to 12,000 marines at once.

The decision to end year-long efforts as pacifier in a far eastern situation which Secretary George C. Marshall regards as a danger to world peace was made with dramatic suddenness by the new secretary himself.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29.—The United States today gave up on trying to establish peace between the warring factions of China and will withdraw its marines from that country.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29.—(INS)—The state department explained today that its pre-drawn announcement of U. S. withdrawal from peace-making efforts in China was made to assure simultaneous release of the news in Washington and Nanking.

Announcement of the decision had been set for 6:30 p. m., Nanking time, which is 5:30 a. m. (EST) in the United States.

A department spokesman said that in order to make sure that the American people would not be "scorped" on the important statement it was decided to "break it" in Washington at a most unusual time.

All American personnel involved in executive headquarters will be withdrawn as soon as possible.

A state department spokesman questioned about the future of U. S. Marines stationed in China, replied:

"Instructions regarding the relief of the marines will be given later in conformity with the approved plan for the termination of American participation in executive headquarters."

The committee of three was made up of the central government of China and the communists with Gen. George C. Marshall as chairman.

Rival Governors Of Georgia Cause Tie-Up Of Funds

ATLANTA, Ga., Jan. 29.—(INS)—The floor of Georgia's House of Representatives was open to unlimited debate on the White primary bill today, as rival governors Herman Talmadge and M. E. Thompson continued to hold each other responsible for the tie-up in all state funds.

Law suits piled higher in the increasingly complicated gubernatorial tug-of-war.

A suit filed by 50 taxpayers in Lowndes county seeking to halt transfer of tax money to Talmadge-appointed Revenue Commissioner Charles Redwine brought to six the number of suits now pending before the courts.

The lengthy White primary bill stands approved by the house after the solons spent all of yesterday's session going over it.

While debate on the bill continues, employees of six state departments faced a checkless pay-day Saturday as Treasurer George B. Hamilton stuck by his intention to freeze all funds of those departments pending final settlement of the governorship question. At present, neither governor has access to the executive fund.

TEN 'MOST ALLURING' MOVIE QUEENS NAMED

The most sex appeal does not only reflect the views of its editors, but is a result of a careful check of readers' preferences.

Selections Of Year

The Police Gazette glamour queens of the year are: Marie McDonald, Rita Hayworth, Vera Ellen, Irena Massey, Linda Christian, Marie Wilson, Jane Russell, Linda Darnell, Cyd Charisse and Virginia Mayo.

The selections were based on a scientific poll. Before announcing the selections, Perlow was dispatched to Hollywood from New York to ascertain that the sex appeal of the Gazette's selectees was not synthetic and that the girls really had "all" it takes to make the grade. Perlow said:

"Some of the publicized glamour queens are too artificial. Their physical attractiveness has been achieved by body props, layers of make-up and skillful photography. Nature was kind to all the girls the Police Gazette selected. There's nothing artificial about them."

"Of course, some of the well-known glamour queens are still attractive and unquestionably were the most alluring years ago. But little things like age and living habits have played havoc with their captivating charms."

Perlow, who has spent several weeks in Hollywood, thought the "as a whole the movie gals were sweet, hard-working and ambitious, although over-rated in the glamour department."

Fourth and Hill streets corner where he was seized, and went out with her.

Barrett quoted Voorhees as saying he again met Miss Short two weeks ago at the same spot.

Reported Confession
The detective said Voorhees then turned sullen and refused to discuss the case further until he had consulted "an attorney" and "my brother." The brother was not identified.

Under questioning at homicide headquarters, Voorhees was reported to have signed the confession. He scrawled: "I did kill Beth Short." Then he signed his name.

Detectives said the prisoner refused to amplify on his confession or in any way to discuss the case further. He did deny, however, he wrote any of a series of notes to Los Angeles newspapers purporting to be from the Dallas killer.

Voorhees was quoted as saying: "I didn't write any of those crackpot letters and I'm tired of hearing about them."

Police Psychiatrist Paul De River was summoned to examine Voorhees, but De River was unable to reach any conclusion as to the authenticity of Voorhees' confession.

COURT MAY NOW REVOKE LORRAINE DAY'S DIVORCE

Judge Dockweiler ordered Hendricks to attend the hearing. Miss Day was ordered to bring to the hearing a certified copy of her marriage certificate and of her Mexican divorce. Both the actress and Hendricks were ordered to submit a copy of their property settlement.

Charge Affections Pirated
The jurist called attention to the answer filed by Hendricks, an airport executive. Prior to the settlement Hendricks accused the Brooklyn baseball club's manager of pirating the actress' affections "while posing as a family friend."

Hendricks, upon reaching the settlement, withdrew his answer and permitted the divorce to go through uncontested.

Judge Dockweiler charged additionally that the actress' marriage was illegal under Mexican law as well as California law. Mexican law, he asserted, forbids remarriage sooner than ten months after separation and twenty-four hours after awarding a divorce decree.

Durocher's reaction to the developments was:

"We are legally man and wife and intend to remain so as long as we live."

Defense attorneys contended that enforcement of the judgment would have scuttled the sugar ration program and done "irreparable damage" to the public.

both factions after he came back home to take over recently as secretary of state.

Maintain Diplomatic Relations
The United States will still maintain its diplomatic relations with China which are headed by John Leighton Stuart.

About 10,000 or 12,000 marines are believed to be stationed in China at the present time. The system for bringing them back to the United States was not immediately disclosed.

There have been demonstrations against their presence after the end of the war with Japan.

Apparently, the United States decided that less prestige and political influence would be lost by withdrawing the marines than leaving them in China.

The state department's announcement on termination of American participation in the peace efforts said:

Terminate Efforts

"The United States government has decided to terminate its connections with the committee of three which was established in Chungking for the purpose of terminating hostilities in China and of which Gen. Marshall was chairman."

"The United States government also has decided to terminate its connections with executive headquarters which was established in Peiping by the committee of three for the purpose of supervising, in the field, the execution of the agreement for the cessation of hostilities and the demobilization and reorganization of the armed forces in China."

"The American personnel involved in executive headquarters will be withdrawn as soon as possible."

over the world. Proposals have been made and will crop up repeatedly today that an international "court of appeal" be established sooner or later under United Nations auspices.

Four Drafts For Bill
In the meantime, four drafts for a bill of rights await consideration, but consultations are still in progress on the various viewpoints. A breathing pause will come tomorrow, when the commission goes to Hyde Park to commemorate Franklin D. Roosevelt's birthday.

The security council, although momentarily marking time for a reply from the Albanians on their expected arrival in New York, is actually grinding for the resumption next Tuesday of the great task of formulating disarmament plans.

Announcement by Warren R. Austin after a conference with Secretary of State Marshall that the United States backing of the Baruch plan for vetoless atom control remains unchanged, has started busy soundings between the various delegations and their governments.

The general assumption among representatives here is that the United States again will vigorously sponsor primary consideration of the atomic energy commission's report on Feb. 4.

Workmen remodeling the old Dang building on the Diamond uncovered a picture of an old motion picture theater, named the Luna, which no one seemed able to identify. The theater evidently flourished in the days after the price had been raised from a nickel to a dime, because a sign in front said "Admission, 10 Cents". The pictures featured were "The Man and the Woman" and the special was "George Marlow, the Human Snake". Also advertised were "The Greasers Gauntlet" and Lubin's latest feature "The Kings Diamond". Ah, those were the days.

Boys Suspected Of Tuesday Burglary

City detectives today were searching for youths with an oversupply of chewing gum, cigarettes and too many pipes, because of a robbery last night at the New Castle Candy company, 222 Croton avenue.

A carton of Raleigh cigarettes, six cartons of Yankee chewing gum and 15 Master Craft pipes were stolen by thieves who ascended the awning and broke a rear window to gain an entrance.

Policeman Thompson and Twell made the preliminary investigation this morning after which the theft was relayed to the bureau of detectives.

Anyone wearing a white carnation today would attract attention and today's white carnations were common. This is the anniversary of the birth of the martyred President William McKinley. Born January 29, 1843, in Niles, O., he was shot at the Buffalo Exposition September 6, 1901 by Leon Czolgosz, said to have been an anarchist. President McKinley died in Buffalo September 14, 1901, at the age of 58. For many years January 29 has been known as McKinley Day.

People Are Thinking More of Service

If there is one time more than any other when a family desires everything done properly that time is a funeral.

That is why funeral service has changed from the day when the undertaker could use a store room or a livery barn as his place of business.

So much can be done by a conscientious funeral director to ease the burden of sorrow that today a family thinks first of the service and the surroundings that are offered. A casket is important but even a fine one cannot overcome the lack of proper service.

Those desiring information about today's improved funeral service are invited to call.

SMITH-CARSON, JR. CHURCH NUPTIALS

Before an arch of palms and ferns flanked on either side by branched candelabra with lighted white tapers at the altar of the First Baptist church Tuesday afternoon at 5:30 o'clock, Miss Esther LaFem Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Kenneth Smith of English avenue, and John Marshall Carson, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Carson of Dallas, Tex., exchanged nuptial vows. Rev. Oliver W. Hurst officiated at the double ring ceremony.

Mrs. Hamilton plans to send copies of this as well as plans for New Castle's 150-year celebration next year to "Old Timers" with whom she keeps up a correspondence.

As an active participant in the Spanish-American War Veterans association and a veteran of World War 1, Mr. Hamilton was remembered by war veterans of both New Castle and Youngstown.

From their grandchildren, the couple received a large memory book and in this they plan to start today to put their cards, telegrams and letters. Mrs. Hamilton says she "has to think where to send some of these lovely flowers" for someone else to enjoy. And soon she will start writing to people about New Castle's sesqui-centennial celebration plans.

Not A Job For Congress

Senator O'Mahoney of Wyoming has introduced a resolution calling for a broad investigation of professional sports, "with particular reference to attempts at bribery and other corruption." This would make a fascinating subject for inquiry but, in the present state of the world, there are other activities to which the Senate might more profitably devote its time.

Professional sports could undoubtedly stand some cleaning up. The gamblers will attempt to push their way into any game, where interest is high and there is big money to be made, unless a careful watch is kept.

This job is already being handled by a number of highly competent agencies. In addition to the state and local police agencies and the FBI, many states maintain commissions to keep an eye on such sports as horse racing, boxing and wrestling. Professional baseball polices its own organization to make sure that no trace of corruption will creep in to mar the game. Other professional sports, while younger and not so highly organized, are doing the same sort of thing in self-protection.

It can hardly be said that these guardians of the public interest and sport's integrity are breaking down to an extent sufficient to warrant a senatorial investigation. The football scandal last December should be, and no doubt will be, followed by a general tightening up of precautions against gamblers and racketeers not only on the gridiron but in every other sport. It is not necessary for Congress to add this problem to a list that is already long.

Flameless Camp Fire

It's an ageless argument, that one about whether scientific advances add flavor to life or subtract ditto therefrom. A whole generation of romancers has grown up, courted and married and all the while the automobile has been standard transportation. They may look askance as grandpa tells of the leisurely pleasure of the days when a natty rig helped to catch grandma's eye and Old Dobbin knew the way home. Who is to say who had the best time, for both these generations will look back on the old days with a sweet nostalgia that will remain even when the world rides on atoms.

But there is one little advance that has just been reported which, if it catches on, will surely make a dull affair of what has always been an exquisitely pleasant experience. A manufacturer's announcement says that a new tablet fuel, soon to be available to campers, will fry that bass to a golden brown and make coffee boil, all with a "flameless" flame. Nonflammable, too.

Now what could be more ill-advised? A camp fire is not a camp fire unless one has to tramp about looking for sticks and twigs that aren't too wet to burn. What moment dearer to the camper, as the flames leap up at last and the fish or steaks begin to sizzle? But the most soulful pleasure comes when nothing is left but the glowing embers, upon which the camper may gaze and meditate on the thoughts that somehow aren't around in more tumultuous surroundings.

A nonflammable camp fire? One might as well succumb to straitjackets in capsules or ride a horse guided by electronic control. Oh, strong tide of advance, hold back. Progress can be carried too far.

Prophets Of Confidence

During the war some of the country's ablest and most progressive businessmen and economists organized themselves as the Committee for Economic Development. The purpose of this public-spirited group was to make an intelligent study and program for reconversion and post-war prosperity. Among other things they forecast full employment, in spite of the doleful Jeremiahs in the Commerce department and elsewhere, and gave reasons for the prediction.

The CED proved itself right. And now its members are telling the country, as a result of further study, that this high employment and prosperity can be maintained, and that depression is not inevitable.

The sound thinking that they have exhibited in the past inspires confidence now. But, whatever their ultimate reputation as prophets may be, we applaud their spirit.

Too many Americans have accepted without question the "inevitability" of a depression. Too many have placed no faith in the power of human intelligence to steer a course away from economic catastrophe, or else have placed a blind faith in some other economic system than our own.

The CED, we repeat, may prove itself wrong. But at any rate its approach to the future is forthright, active and confident. We cannot lose anything, in any event, by adopting the courageous attitude of these sound and successful businessmen.

Liberalizing Rent Control

Instructions issued by Maj. Gen. Philip Fleming, director of the Office of Temporary Controls, to liberalize rents in hardship cases may be regarded as an effort to make rent control more elastic, and more realistic.

The effect of the order will depend on the manner in which it is administered, and also upon interpretation of the terms "liberalize" and "hardship cases." In General Fleming's explanation that regional directors have been ordered to resolve any doubt about rents in the landlord's favor, there is an implied admission that heretofore the OPA may have taken the attitude that the landlord is always wrong. And certainly, property owners whose rents have been frozen for four years while prices, wages and most other sources of income were rising deserve the benefit of any doubt as to what constitutes a hardship.

Application of the order will be far from easy. Instead of making mass decisions, it will be necessary to consider each case individually on a set of merits that may differ with each. Tenants, who naturally think in terms of their own self-interest, probably will be alarmed by the inclination to give more weight to the landlord's side of the case. But, in any event, rent control cannot be continued forever.

Portal Battle Perils Future Of Nation

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29.—The portal-to-portal pay issue has focused attention on the curious role of the federal courts under our system of government as nothing has done in a long time. A single decision, upheld by the Supreme Court, can jeopardize our whole economy.

The Treasury has assured industry that nearly half the cost of meeting portal-to-portal claims will be paid for out of tax deductions. This could well put a burden of several billion dollars on the federal government. And it requires no financial expert to see what that would mean when we have a debt of nearly $260,000,000,000. Such a burden could throw all budget calculations out of kilter and put a severe strain on the whole system of federal financing.

These are the realities which Federal Judge Frank A. Picard seemed blindly to ignore in his decision in the Mount Clemens Mich. pottery workers' case. It is not to be wondered at that Atty. Gen. Tom O. Clark took an unusual step of intervening as "friend of the court" to urge the judge to reconsider.

Judges Usurping Duties

There could hardly be a better example than the Mount Clemens case of what happens when judges step beyond their judicial functions to usurp the duties of administrator and lawmaker. Under our Constitution, there is nothing to prevent the federal judiciary, and in particular the Supreme Court, making itself into a kind of upper chamber of the legislature, a sort of house of lords sitting in judgment on the rightness or wrongness of legislation adopted by the Congress.

Hughes Gives His Views

Forty years ago, another great judge spoke words of wisdom that touch the portal-to-portal issue more directly than almost anything that has been said in the current controversy. In 1908, Charles Evans Hughes, now a retired chief justice, was running for re-election as governor of New York. Regulation of utilities was under debate. Hughes's opponent, a businessman, advocated the right to appeal matters of fact, as contrasted to questions of law, to the courts. In a speech at Elmira, N. Y., Hughes replied:

"I have the highest regard for the courts. My whole life has been spent in work conditioned upon respect for the courts. I reckon him one of the worst enemies of the community who will talk lightly of the dignity of the bench. We are under a Constitution and the Court is what the judges say it is, and the judiciary is the safeguard of our liberty and of our property under the Constitution. I do not want to see any direct assault upon the courts, nor do I want to see any indirect assault upon the courts. And I tell you, ladies and gentlemen, no more insidious assault could be made upon the independence and esteem of the judiciary than to burden it with questions which lie close to the public interest, and in regard to which the people are going to insist on having administration by officers directly accountable to them."

"Due Process of Law"

"Let us keep the courts for the questions they were intended to consider. When questions of property rights are involved—when the constitutional right to hold property and not to be deprived of it without due process of law is involved; when, under the guise of regulation or authority to supervise railroad management, there is an assumption of arbitrary power not related to public convenience; when there is a real judicial question—let the courts have it and every good citizen will stand aside and hope to see it decided fairly and with even-handed justice."

Shortly after he became chairman of the Senate Judiciary committee, Senator Alexander Wiley of Wisconsin made an extraordinary statement. He said there were too many Democrats on the federal bench and it was high time to put some Republicans there. This seemed to be saying in so many words that the judiciary is nothing more than an upper chamber of the legislature. The answer is not to balance Democrats with Republicans. It is to try to find men for the federal judiciary who will put the law above partisanship in the great tradition of the late Chief Justice Stone.

State Police Say:

Too many drivers try to drive at night at the same speed as in the daytime, instead of with the same factor of safety. They over-drive their headlights, and hold to a speed from which it is not physically possible to come to a stop in the distance of their clear vision ahead. Then in an emergency they are unable to avoid trouble. Speed should always go down with the sun.

LOOKING AT LIFE

By ERICH BRANDEIS

My secretary is getting married next week, and I hope you won't mind if I use this column to say goodbye to her and give her a little friendly advice.

Jean has been a good secretary. She has her shortcomings, of course, but who hasn't?

But for the past two weeks her mind simply hasn't been on her work.

Apparently she has the idea that she is the first person ever to get married. As far as she is concerned it has never been done before. She is scared stiff.

It seems just a bit improper to her to move in with a strange man (although she has known her future husband for many years).

Then, she simply can't find the proper dress in which to get married and the other customary wedding presents to do her for at least three married lives.

Not yet having found a place to live, Jean is worried about where to store all the stuff she has altered.

So far, I think she has told me she has had three showers given for her and there will be three more.

She has already received enough quilts and dishes and silverware and the other customary wedding presents to do her for at least three married lives.

Three Upsets Of Roosevelt Tradition

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29. IT SEEMS perfectly dreadful about Mr. Truman. Who would have dreamed he would turn out to be this kind of a fellow? It is not surprising the apostles of the "True Liberalism" get with indignation and the torch bearers of the hallowed Roosevelt traditions boil and steam and sputter.

NO WONDER there are angry mutterings in the camps of the PCA, the ABA and the CIO. Nor that the literary custodians of what they like to call the "American Progressive Movement" toss in their sleep and are filled with bitterness and bile. For what has the man done? This is what he has done—not once but three times in a single day he violated, scuttled and betrayed three separate, long recognized and deeply cherished Roosevelt policies—and did so without excuse, explanation or defense.

HERE is the shameful record: (1) Last Wednesday it was announced that he had asked Mr. Herbert Hoover, the only living ex-President, to make a study for this country of the alarming and acute food and related economic problems in the American and British zones of occupied Germany. This was followed by Mr. Hoover's visit to the White House, where he had a long talk with the president and agreed to take on the job. Next this was the second time, Mr. Truman had called on Mr. Hoover for help in a food situation, which makes it twice as difficult to overlook.

PROBABLY Mr. Truman would advance as a reason for asking Mr. Hoover's help that he was clearly the most informed, experienced and competent man in the world to handle this particular situation. But is that not a preposterous reason? Does Mr. Truman not know that during the twelve years of Mr. Roosevelt's presidency the Roosevelt policy was to ignore the existence of Mr. Hoover, to pretend that he no longer lived?

DOES he not know that even during the war when the need for the ablest possible food administrator was very great, and Mr. Hoover, acknowledged to be the best-equipped man in the country was available, he was ignored by Mr. Roosevelt and the task allotted to inferior men? Does he not know, too, that all during the Roosevelt regime no one ever spoke a favorable word about Mr. Hoover in the Roosevelt presence, and that the happy habit of the "inner circle" and those who clung to its fringes was to disparage, belittle and libel him? Surely Mr. Truman knew all this—because it was very widely known, indeed. Yet, see what he has done.

AND that is not all. On that same Wednesday it appeared in the press that Mr. Truman, his wife and daughter, had crossed a picket line—actually, it occurred at a Washington theater—and the pickets, white and colored, were held back by the police while the Trumans passed through. Well, that is about the limit. It is just impossible that Mr. Truman did not know it was a settled Roosevelt policy never to cross a picket line. How could he forget that Mrs. Roosevelt and daughter, a member of a CIO union, more than once while she was the wife of the President, was highly publicized for her refusal to cross a picket line—and that upon one occasion she supported a strike without knowing what the strike was about? Certainly, Mr. Truman could not help knowing that the Roosevelt policies were to be sympathetic toward all picket lines and all strikes—especially those of the CIO.

Yet, in face of all this, here is Mr. Truman, his wife and daughter pushing through a picket line with police aid. The excuse that he did not know there was a picket line—or even a strike on—is much too thin. He should have known. Mrs. Roosevelt would have known.

BUT even this, shocking as it must seem to the engineers of the American Progressive movement, was not all that happened on Wednesday. On that day Mr. Truman received at the White House Republican Senator Wiley, who had publicly declared that the Federal courts, including the Supreme Court, had been outrageously packed with New Deal Democrats during the Roosevelt regime, gave some startling statistics as to their predominance and insisted that in the interests of justice and the courts Mr. Truman should do what he could to correct this deplorable state of affairs. Upon leaving Mr. Truman, Senator Wiley let it be known that he had found him responsive to his views; that Mr. Truman did not appear to favor any further court packing and, Senator Wiley felt, might be expected to appoint some Republicans to the Federal bench.

UNQUESTIONABLY, these three incidents do give some foundation for the claim that Mr. Truman is not a "true liberal" according to the old Roosevelt standards—nor, indeed, by the present standards of the professional labor bosses and left-wing agitators who have taken over the words as their own. By their standards any one of the three was enough to prove Mr. Truman's unworthiness; the three together reveal him as "untrue to his trust," in fact, a villain—nothing less. However, there is this to be said for the comfort of Mr. Truman—the overwhelming majority of the American people, regardless of party, undoubtedly would approve his stand on all three—separately and collectively. He need not despair.

ACCIDENTS OF YOUNG DRIVERS

There are two groups of high-accident drivers; those who are now young and those who have had an unusually high-accident rate in the past. So concludes Dr. H. M. Johnson of Tulane university, one of the world's ablest investigators. In an article entitled "The Detection and Treatment of Accident-prone Drivers," in the November issue of the "Psychological Bulletin." This bulletin is an official publication of the American Psychological Association.

Rate Of Accidents

He found that the rate of accidents "among drivers between 16 and 20 years was 1.73 times the rate for the whole population; 1.93 times the rate of their elders; 2.83 times the rate for the age-group 51-55 years, which has the lowest rate of all the group that are formed by the rule applied.

Considering the age-class by single years, one finds that the fatal accident-rate of the drivers 18 years old was only 72 per cent of that of the drivers 16 years old, and only 65 per cent of that of the drivers 19, 20 and 21 years old. No satisfactory explanation has yet been offered, but the differences cannot be attributed to chance. The worst record was made by the 19-21 (Continued on Page Eight)

are our goal this year

WE'RE PLANNING for continued record-breaking installations of telephones—to add nearly 200,000 to the total now in service in Pennsylvania's cities, towns and rural areas.

A job to install them? It's enormous. But we broke all previous records last year and it looks as though we could do it again.

As fast as central office and outside plant facilities are available, our installers will move in and do their expert jobs.

They know their jobs, too. They know that close to 1,000,000 man-hours will go into this one. But they welcome it, as we do . . . for they know how important it is to get telephone service to those who want it. And this is the goal of the $65,000,000 stride that we're planning to take this year to provide telephone service for nearly everybody who wants it anywhere in the territory we serve.

Two Committees Face Hard Tasks

Ways And Means And Education Committees Of Legislature Have Problems

OTHER NEWS OF STATE AFFAIRS

HARRISBURG, Jan. 29.—(INS)—Of the 32 standing committees of the house of representatives, the two faced with what may be the toughest problems of the General Assembly are the ways and means and education committees. The 30-member ways and means group, which will consider all revenue raising measures, is headed by Rep. Lambert Cadwalader (R) Montgomery. The education committee, which also includes 30 members, will be directed by Rep. D. Raymond Sollenberger (R) Blair. Both Cadwalader and Sollenberger have served in the house since December 1, 1936. Because of the increasing clamor for teachers, educators and the general public for pay boosts for public school employees, the education committee's task of sifting proposals and reaching an agreement on one measure was expected to be extremely difficult.

Some assemblymen have predicted that when the legislative study of finances to determine the cost of new state services asked by the public has been completed the assembly will be able to accelerate its deliberations. The pace of the legislature was expected to be quickened after Gov. James H. Duff, who ordered the study, submits his recommendations as to taxes.

In his inaugural address, Lieut. Gov. Daniel B. Strickler to Lancaster pointed out that since 1777 Pennsylvania's General Assembly had approved 20,264 bills.

"We must understand the grave financial problems remain to be solved if our cities are to avoid insolvency and move forward as is necessary to the health and well-being of their people," Secretary of Internal Affairs William S. Lavengood, Jr., has reported in the department's monthly bulletin. "If over those who represent municipal government in Pennsylvania need to face the future with vision, courage and open minds, that time is now."

Cooperation between Pennsylvania and its neighboring states on problems of mutual interest was expected to be an important cog in the program of Gov. James H. Duff. Shortly after his election, Governor Duff conferred with Alfred E. Driscoll, now governor of New Jersey, on problems relating to the development of the Philadelphia-Camden area. It was expected that Governor Duff would confer during his tenure with the chief executives of New York, Ohio, Maryland, Delaware and West Virginia on various problems.

Sen. George N. Wade (R) Cumberland has sponsored a bill to make the song "Pennsylvania" the official state song. The four stanza song was composed by Helen Hall Bucher of Boiling Springs. After Wade introduced the bill, Senate President Pro Tempore Weldon B. Heyburn jokingly asked the Cumberland county legislator to observe the usual custom of the senate in such cases by singing the song. Wade begged off, claiming he was "not in good voice" after celebrating the inauguration of Governor Duff.

After Secretary of Commonwealth C. M. Morrison administered the oath of office to Miss S. M. R. Morrison explained that Miss O'Hara, secretary of commonwealth under ex-Gov. Arthur H. James, administered the oath of office to him. Later, he gave the oath to Miss O'Hara who became Secretary of welfare in the cabinet of former Gov. Edward Martin. Membership of the parole board was completed with the appointment of Miss O'Hara. Henry C. Hill of Harrisburg is chairman and Theodore H. Reiber of Pittsburgh is the other member.

CAA Urges Opening Of Communication, Weather Stations

HARRISBURG, Jan. 29.—(INS)—The federal government was urged today by the state aeronautics commission to reopen weather and communications stations closed January 12 at Sunbury and Brookville.

William L. Anderson, commission director, explained that he had been informed that the Civil Aeronautics administration would reopen the station at Wilkes-Barre on February 1.

Anderson explained the CAA had closed the stations because of a lack of funds. The commission adopted a resolution urging that the stations be again placed in operation because of the hazards which would result if flyers were unable to receive weather information while flying over mountainous areas.

Letters will be sent to Pennsylvania senators and congressmen urging the reopening of the stations, Anderson said.

What To Do For That Sluggish, Down-and-Out Feeling

Remember the time when you could eat like a horse, bubbled-over with energy, felt happy as a lark? Was it not because you liked to eat—didn't know what indigestion was, felt strong as an ox? As age advances the "old stomach" and the "ever-changing blood" need help. Now you may again release vibrant energy to every muscle, fibre, cell.

Every day—every hour—millions of tiny red-blood-cells must pour forth from the marrow of your bones to replace those that are worn-out. A low blood count may affect you in several ways: no appetite, underweight, no energy, a run-down condition, lack of resistance to infection and disease.

To get real relief you must keep up your blood strength. Medical authorities, by analysis of the blood, have by positive proof shown that SSS Tonic is amazingly effective in building up low blood strength in non-organic nutritional anemia. This is due to the SSS Tonic formula which contains special and potent stimulating ingredients.

Also, SSS Tonic helps you enjoy the food you eat by increasing the gastric digestive juice when it is non-organically too little or scanty—thus the stomach will have little cause to get balky with gas, bloating and give off that sour food taste.

Don't wait! Energize your body with rich, red-blood. Start on SSS Tonic now. As vigorous blood surges throughout your whole body, greater freshness and strength should make you eat better, sleep better, feel better, work better, play better, have a healthy color glow in your skin—firm flesh fill out hollow places. Millions of bottles sold. Get a bottle from your drug store. SSS Tonic helps Build Sturdy Health.

County Controller Tells How County Funds Were Received And Expended

OTHER NEWS OF COURT HOUSE

In Tuesday's edition of The News the annual financial report of the county was published. It is a mass of figures but the figures mean something to every taxpayer. It shows where the money came from and where it went. It is a report that should be studied by every person paying taxes.

The report was made by the County Controller Andrew M. Dodds and in submitting Mr. Dodds said, "The law requires an annual financial report and this has been done every year by the county controller. The office of county controller is an important one in that every cent of county tax money spent is accounted for by the controller. He it is who is responsible for the accuracy of all payments, whether they are legally made and whether the proper steps have been taken before the money was spent."

There may be some taxpayers who wish to raise questions about some of the figures shown in the report. Any taxpayer having any question is invited to call at the controller's office and the questions will be answered.

Hear Arguments On Oleo Tax In State

State Supreme Court Takes Under Advisement Appeal On Oleo License Validity

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 29.—(INS)—The State Supreme Court Tuesday took under advisement an appeal by the commonwealth testing the legality of a 45-year-old law imposing $500 license fees on oleomargarine wholesalers and $100 fees on retailers.

The appeal was from a Dauphin county court ruling which upheld the position of five grocers who challenged the law.

The lower court issued an injunction restraining the state secretary of agriculture from collecting the fees.

Arguments were heard by the high court Tuesday.

Deputy Attorney General Ralph B. Umsted told the tribunal that the state had a right to impose taxes on oleo wholesalers and retailers as a means of raising revenue.

Umsted said that even though the law was enacted originally as a measure to sustain the cost of enforcing pure food regulations on oleo dealers, the money collected has now been placed in the state's general funds.

He disputed the contention of the grocers that the law has kept the sale of oleo down pointing out that applications for fees were on the increase until the opening days of the war when shortages curtailed its manufacture.

Willis F. Daniels, counsel for the grocers, contended that the law provided for license fees to be collected and did not impose a tax. He declared that the law was "unreasonable," confiscatory and discriminatory, and constituted an illegal restraint of trade.

Daniels also pointed out that a retailer must sell over 3,000 pounds of oleo in any one year before he can make a profit.

Bath was the first English spa to become popular. Its natural springs had been used by the Romans. A fine Roman swimming pool is still there.

Aged Widower Loses Battle To Regain Property

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 29.—(INS)—A 78-year-old Delaware county widower lost his fight today to regain his former home from his deceased wife's niece.

Peter Schaffer, the widower, lost his appeal when the state supreme court ruled that a chancellor's findings in the case were fully supported by the evidence.

Schaffer had sought to regain ownership of a bungalow and a six-acre plot of land in Ridley and Springfield townships which the niece, Helen Cloud, obtained in June 1945.

The appeal by her uncle was taken from the common pleas court of Delaware county where the trial had held that Schaffer had made a valid gift to his niece of his real estate without condition; that he had the full legal capacity required to make the gift, and that the gift was made of his own free will without undue influence being exercised upon him.

He alleged that his niece, who possessed his complete confidence, when he was feeble in mind and body and in need of assistance overpersuaded him to convey his property to her on her promise to take care of him for the rest of his life. She later defaulted on this promise, he claimed.

County Conference Here On Thursday

Mid-Year Efficiency Conference Of County Sunday School Association To Draw Throng

From the reservation slips that have come in for the Fellowship dinner, indications are that there will be a splendid attendance at the annual mid-year efficiency conference and rally of the County Sunday School Association, to be held at the First United Presbyterian church, this city, Thursday afternoon and evening.

The afternoon session will start with registration at 2:15, followed by the devotional period at 2:30. Following this the county president, Robert M. Strickler Jr., will have charge of a discussion period on the coming 8 weeks pre-Easter increase campaign. Following this there will be a message from the director of youth work of the state association, Rev. Ivey J. Shuff.

"Bible Taught in Lawrence County Schools" will be subject of the report by Rev. J. E. Pringle, acting Christian Education superintendent, which will be followed by reports from other county departmental superintendents. There will also be sound motion picture, "The Child of Bethlehem" and Camp Kanastota views. It is also planned for county departmental superintendents to meet with district departmental superintendents present.

The conference rally fellowship dinner will be served at 6:15, and it is hoped that those who have not sent in their reservation slips, will do so right away so the ladies will know the number to be served.

The evening session starts at 7:30 with a song service led by David W. Rees, church chorister. The devotional meditation will be in charge of Mrs. Oliver W. Hurst, assisted by young people in the audience. Following this will be a solo by David W. Rees.

Dr. R. P. Galbreath will have the message for the adults on the subject, "A Prophet Calls Adults to Repentance". Rev. Ivey J. Shuff will address the young people's group, and there will be a visual education for children demonstration for children's workers.

The three groups will reassemble for a consecration and dedication service in charge of Rev. Shuff, followed by a "Friendship Circle".

Near Conclusion In State Penal Code Revisions

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 29.—(INS)—A legislative committee today virtually completed work on revision of Pennsylvania's penal code, widened to ban bribery in sports events. At week-end sessions in Philadelphia, the group finished a preliminary draft of the revised code, which they started studying in November, 1945.

Common Pleas Judge Harry S. McDevitt, of Philadelphia, a committee advisor, said the code embraces a proposed act providing for a penalty of two years in jail or $2,000 fine, or both, for attempted bribery.

Judge McDevitt pointed out that the projected act does not state specifically that money must be passed in an effort to bribe or corrupt a participant in an amateur or professional contest.

Legislative action on the revised code will probably be asked within the next few weeks, a spokesman for the committee said.

Lincoln Students Stage Contest

Efficiency in study and conduct has been the theme of a contest that has been in progress among the students of Grade 5-2 in the Lincoln-Garfield grade school, on East Long avenue. Miss Belle Montgomery, teacher of the class has been supervising the contest which has been running for a number of weeks.

The class was divided into first and second division, with Diana Ambrose captain of Division One, while Albert Hassan was captain of Team Two. The Second Division won the contest. Each subject studied by the boys and girls was rated by a certain number of points, averaging 100.

Tuesday morning, classes of the school assembled in the school auditorium where they witnessed the showing of the motion picture, "Colonial Children". During the afternoon the picture was shown to the students at Pollock school on Home street.

Nothing Can Be Done, Boys; Her Hats Won't Change Now!

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 28.—(INS)—Women's hats of today are not one bit crazier than they were in bygone centuries—and a group of San Francisco women will prove it to you at the drop of a chapeau.

The women, members of the San Francisco society of women artists, attended a dinner at the California school of fine arts clad in bonnets fashioned after those of past centuries.

Mrs. Willie Wise, costume design teacher, arrived in one little model that defied description. But it did have an explanation.

Mrs. Wise said the hat was the same type worn by the cambodian maidens of the lost country of Angkor-Vat. Its purpose was "to tempt men to their downfall so that heaven wouldn't be overcrowded."

Most of the other hats were adapted from those in famous paintings.

But for contrast, Mrs. Gardiner Johnson, president of the society, appeared in a present day style of her own designing. Emushed in leaves rested a stuffed bluebird on a bow. Slightly to the left of the bluebird was a bird's nest. On the nest perched a canary. And in the nest were three little Easter eggs.

Women's hats, it appears have one thing in common through the centuries—they were always out of this world.

TO AIR HUSBANDS' LIABILITY TO PAY TAXES OF SPOUSES

EBENSBURG, Pa., Jan. 29.—(INS)—Constitutionality of a 1945 legislative act which provides that husbands are liable for payment of their wives' per capita taxes will be given a test in an injunction hearing Friday in Cambria county court.

James Richardson of Beaverdale yesterday obtained a temporary injunction restraining the tax collector in Summerhill township school district from deducting his wife's 1946 per capita school tax from his wages.

The 1945 law says such deductions can be made. Attorneys who filed the petition for Richardson declare the law violates Article 9, Section 1 of the Pennsylvania constitution.

The action was instituted as the result of a protest meeting held recently by miners at Beaverdale.

"NATIONAL ANTHEM DAY"

HARRISBURG, Jan. 29.—(INS)—Designation of September 14 as "national anthem day" was proposed today by Sen. Arthur Blass (R) Erie.

He pointed out that Francis Scott Key wrote the Star Spangled Banner during the battle of Fort McHenry in the War of 1812.

His proposal, Blass said, was not designed to establish another holiday but rather to create a "patriotic spirit in respect to the flag and national anthem."

Blass explained that although the battle was fought in Maryland, Pennsylvania had a "great deal" at stake in the war.

The 12,865,518 Negroes in the United States at the last census furnished 45.8 per cent of the domestic service, 26 per cent of sawmill and planing mill workers, 24.2 of tobacco factory workers, 20.2 per cent of hotel and lodging place workers.

Three Women Claim They Married Man

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 29.—(INS)—Double trouble's usually plenty for most people, but Everett Welch, 36, of Philadelphia, found his woes came in triplicate Tuesday.

Three women testified in magistrate's court that they had married Welch at various dates ranging from 1936 to Jan. 20 last.

Welch, a mill worker, was held in $2500 bail for another hearing Friday.

Remarkable Assistant District Attorney Stephen Potlack:

Molotov To Sign Axis Satellite Peace Treaties

LONDON, Jan. 29.—(INS)—A British foreign spokesman said today that Soviet Foreign Minister Molotov and French Foreign Minister Georges Bidault are expected to sign the Axis satellite nations peace treaties soon.

The spokesman said, however, that British Foreign Minister Ernest Bevin will delay his signature until the treaties are debated in the House of Commons. Bevin is said to feel that an airing of opposition to the treaties may speed eventual ratification.

PLUMBERS

Plumbers are very important members of our community. They look after our water supply. They keep our drain pipes in good order. They know a lot about tubes and pipes.

There are other kinds of pipes and tubes which get us into trouble sometimes.

The lungs are made up of a lot of tubes. They are called bronchial tubes. When they become inflamed or irritated, the condition is called bronchitis. Bronchitis usually causes coughing.

If a cough lasts very long it should have medical attention. There are many different kinds of bronchitis. Sometimes it may be due to tuberculosis.

A little investigation may prevent a lot of trouble.

THE PARENT PROBLEM

years old, whose rate of fatal accidents per operator per annum was 1.9 times that of the whole population, 2.04 times that of the remainder of the population, and 3.1 that of the drivers 51-55 years old.

Dr. Johnson also found "that if a youthful driver is involved in an accident, the accident is more likely to involve death or personal injury than if the driver is older." He adds: "This finding, which is statistically reliable, may be connected with the findings that the rate of suspension for speeding in the District of Columbia in 1936 is about 2.3 times as high for drivers younger than 23 as it is for the remainder of the population, and 11 times as high as it is for drivers 50-55 years old."

If the more recent accident figures were studied, the record for youthful drivers might be comparatively worse, thanks to the larger percentage of dilapidated cars and jalopies in their possessions.

An Earlier Column

In response to an earlier column of mine on this subject, a teen-age boy wrote me to object, stating that I overlooked the vast amount of education to be derived from fixing an old car and making it run. To which I replied that by the same line of reasoning that much mechanical skill might also be gained from practice at picking a lock on a safe. The social test of skill and knowledge is the use they are put to.

We might expect the younger drivers to be safer drivers than the middle-aged. They generally have better hearing and vision and are physically and mentally more alert. Yet they have a lower sense of responsibility and a higher urge for speeding.

Obviously, these facts are of great interest to parents.

Previous to that he had 23 years service in an engineering capacity for Allegheny county. Mr. Schmidt has been located in the Pittsburgh office during his entire tenure with the department.

He resides at 290 Jonquil place, Mt. Lebanon, Allegheny county. He is married and the father of two sons. He was born June 5, 1884.

Japanese Labor Leaders Prepare For General Strike

TOKYO, Jan. 29.—(INS)—A high-ranking Japanese labor leader predicted today that a projected general strike of government workers will be started February 1 "regardless of MacArthur of the Far Eastern commission."

The strike has been called as a protest against the Yoshida government and against postwar wage scales.

As preparations for the huge walkout went ahead, 200,000 Japanese laborers, bearing red flags, paraded through the streets of Tokyo in an anti-government demonstration.

MORE INDUSTRIES, TOWNS ORDERED TO BEGIN SEWAGE WORKS

HARRISBURG, Jan. 29.—(INS)—Six additional municipalities and 14 more industries were under orders today from the state sanitary water board to prepare plans for treatment works in line with the state's clean streams program.

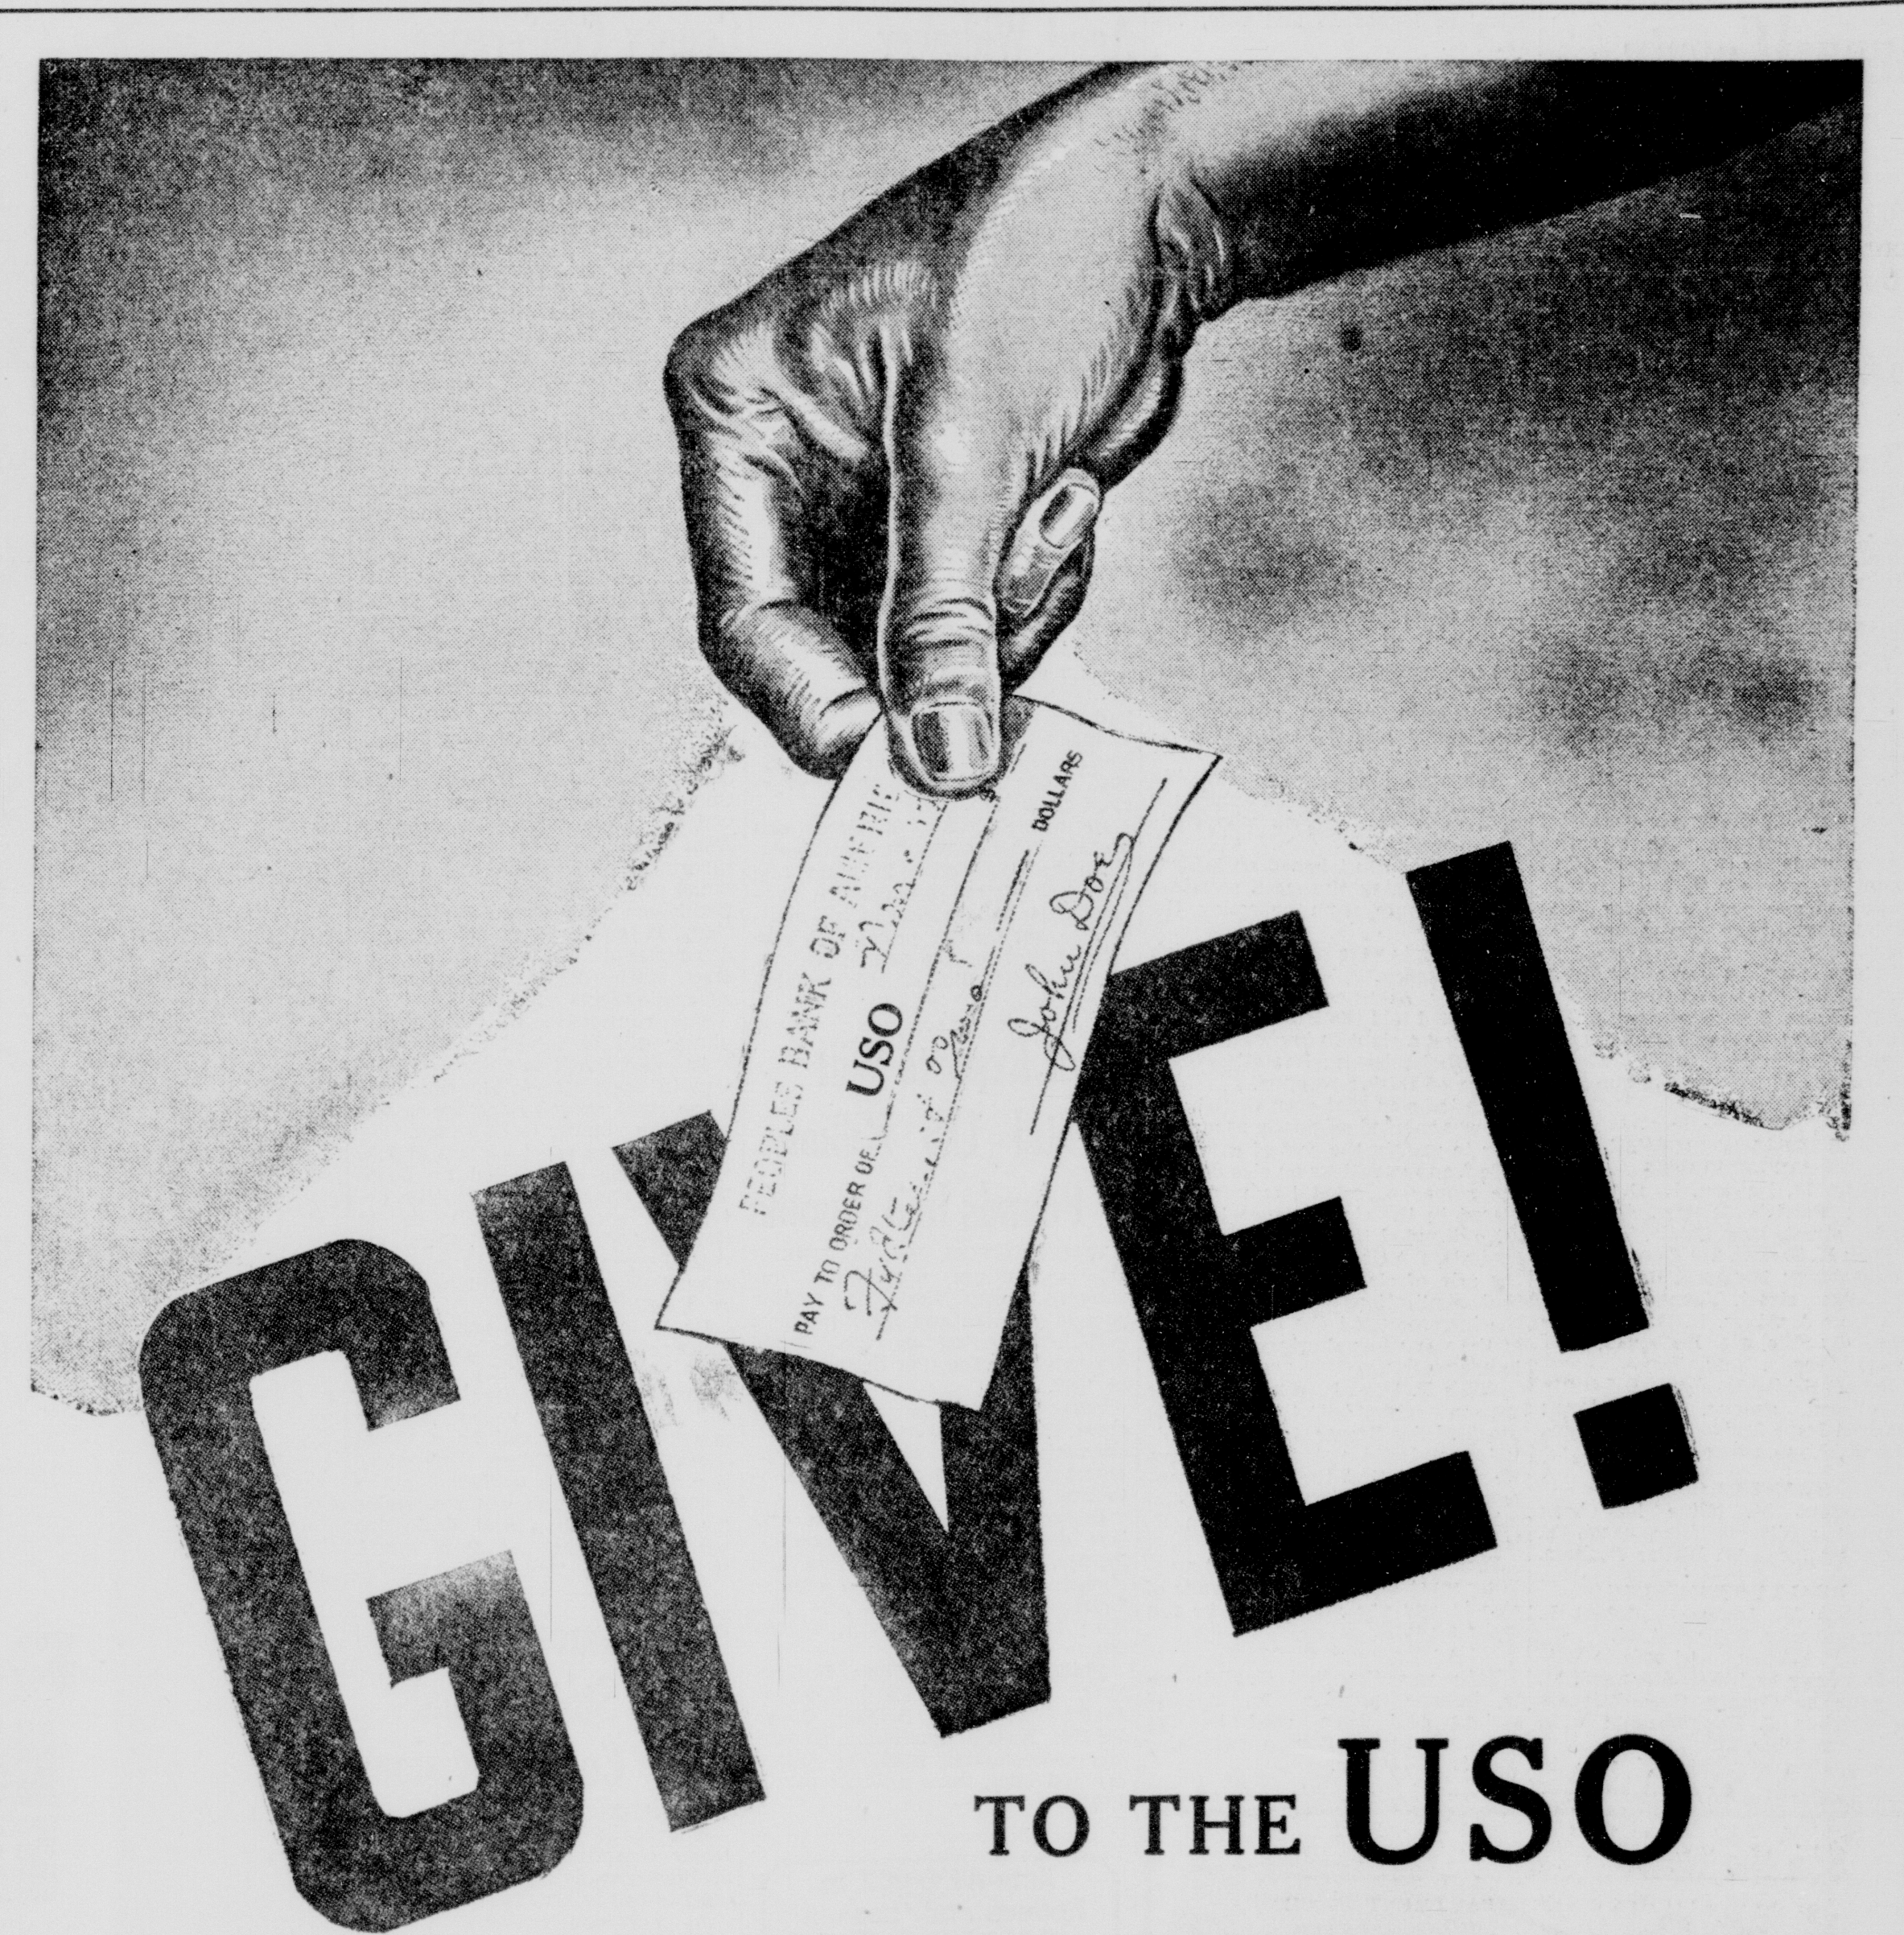

The municipalities were ordered to prepare plans for sewage treatment works while the industries were directed to begin work on blueprints for waste treatment plants.

The board said 559 municipalities and 444 industries have been directed to draw up plans for the projects. Industries diverting wastes to municipal sewer systems will not be required to prepare plans, the board explained, because communities will be held responsible for treatment of sewage.

PROPOSES IDENTIFICATION
HARRISBURG, Jan. 29.—(INS)—Identification cards would be issued by the state liquor control board to all persons over the age of 21 under the provisions of a bill introduced Tuesday in the senate.

The measure, sponsored by Sen. A. H. Letzler (R) Clearfield, proposed $100 fines for illegal possession of cards.

THE WORLD AND THE MUD PUDDLES

take the losses which meant his eventual forced retirement from the harness business.

It would be interesting to witness the reactions of this harness buying citizen to the arbitrary dicta of the so-called "Nathan Report" of the C. I. O., that wages can be raised twenty-five per cent in industry generally without any increase in prices. As a practical man, possessed of normal sense he might reasonably fall back on the old saying that figures may not lie, but liars can figure.

There are few things in the "Nathan Report"—made to order to provide C. I. O. propaganda for heavy wage increases—which cannot be refuted by the simple experience of my harness buying dad. They didn't call it "economics" in those days, but plain common sense. Everybody knew that a house built by carpenters working at Five Dollars a day cost more than a house built by carpenters getting Four Dollars a day. Everybody knew that a stove cost more when the price had to cover wage increases for ore miners and steel workers. Everybody knew that when wool prices went up and the wages of weavers increased, clothes would have to cost more. They didn't require statisticians and "experts" to tell them the plain facts of business.

There isn't any real difference between the days of the harness-makers and the house-builders of other days and the industries of today. The elemental factor in commodity prices is labor costs. Material costs, of course, have an important bearing; but the thing about material costs is that they, too, are governed primarily by the costs of labor involved in their production. Mr. Nathan's report, naturally, being made purely for propaganda purposes, blithely ignores these pyramiding additions to production costs. It deliberately overlooks the increased costs, say, of an automobile, due to wage increases to the workers who produce the ore, the steel, the paint, the glass, the upholstery, the copper and even the gadgets and the tires.

The price of machine-made harness may be lower than that of handmade harness a generation since. But the same laws of economics apply today.

Waxed paper is merely a thin sheet of paper which has been treated with purified paraffin, a wax similar to that used in preserving jelly. To make it, rolls of paper are fed over rollers into tanks of hot liquid paraffin. Then the paper goes through a squeezing process similar to that of a washing machine, wringer, and passes into a cold water bath which sets the wax.

From 1942 through 1945, state government: in the United States collected $2,272,000,000 in truck taxes, which was more than the states spent on highway construction, maintenance and administration in the same period.

Final Report Of YWCA Fund Drive Thursday Evening

Workers Will Turn In Reports On Campaign For Money For Overseas 'Y's'

Final report meeting of the Y. W. C. A. Reconstruction Fund being raised for the benefit of overseas "Y's" will be in the Central "Y" building Thursday evening at 7:30, according to an announcement from Mrs. Roy Long, chairman.

Community groups, New Wilmington residents, and a retired Y. W. C. A. secretary from Argentina have all voluntarily donated to the local fund. New Castle workers are raising $1,800 of the $2,000,000 goal.

For Rebuilding Use
This money will be used for the rebuilding of "Y's" in foreign countries where they are badly needed as shelters and as centers of education and culture. The money will also help to feed and cloth children who have been deprived of warm clothing and of adequate nourishment for years.

Already one ton of powdered milk and one and one-half tons of evaporated milk have been sent to Czechoslovakian children. Advance gifts have brought the national fund to almost one-half million, the National Y. W. C. A. president has announced.

"These people are helping themselves, but they need our assistance too," Mrs. Long stated. "In the Philippines, Y. W. C. A. workers who were still alive and able to work when the Americans liberated the islands, immediately got to work to raise 30,000 pesos. They surpassed the goal and raised 65,000. That isn't much money to us, but a lot to them."

Seeks To Halt Attachment Of Love's Bank Funds

In an action filed today by her counsel, Mrs. Amanda Greer Love, wife of Robert C. Love, former president of the First Securities Company charged with embezzlement, asks permission to intervene in the civil attachment against her husband. This action is taken by Mrs. Love to forestall the attachment of bank deposits of Mr. Love by the First Securities Company in an effort to salvage part of the loss. Mrs. Love claims the money, all but $289.25 is properly hers.

The petition sets out that Mr. Love as trustee for the Greer estate collected rents from the Greer Building and the Lee Building on North Mercer Street, the Centennial Building on Washington Street and from a farm in Neshannock township, but deposited them in his own name in the First National Bank. As the holder of a life interest in the estate, Mrs. Love charges the money is properly hers and not subject to attachment. A hearing upon the petition to intervene has been set for February 10.

Waives Hearing

Mr. Love today waived a preliminary hearing before Alderman L. Claude Mantz charging him with making false statements as a corporate officer, a charge placed after the embezzlement charge hearing had been waived.

With the waiving of the two preliminary hearings the bills of indictment will be prepared by District Attorney Leroy K. Donaldson. In a statement today Mr. Donaldson said that an investigation of the embezzlement charges against Mr. Love could not properly hold, inasmuch as a number of them seemed to have been committed prior to six years. The statute of limitations in embezzlements is six years and unless a charge is brought within the six years, there is no criminal liability. Mr. Donaldson further said that in his opinion, as presently held, the actual embezzlement figures which would be used in the indictment might run as low as 25 per cent of the $221,000 originally charged.

There were a number of the lady members of the post present who were special guests on the occasion. The post voted a contribution of $54.90 to the March of Dimes campaign, matching contributions given at the social rooms, which will be turned over to the campaign committee.

Russia Reveals Concern Over Arctic Activity

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29.—(INS)—United States training and observation operations in the Arctic today were reported to be causing Russia increasing concern.

Recent Moscow broadcasts have concentrated on these operations without challenging them as a threat to the Soviet Union. However, observers believed that Soviet concern over these activities were behind Russia's increasingly pressing demands for military bases in Spitzbergen, the Arctic islands lying north of Norway.

The Soviet attitude has not yet reached the protest stage. But, by activities of the Communist party in various parts of the world, it is regarded as apparent that Moscow is worried.

A major line of Communist party adherents has concentrated on opposing United States efforts to obtain concessions in Greenland and Iceland.

A survey of recent Moscow broadcasts shows that the official line does not recognize that the United States, in Iceland, is merely maintaining commercial air bases.

Railroad Workers 1947 Wage Drive Likely Next Month

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29.—(INS)—Rail union officials said today that the 1947 wage drive of the nation's railroad workers may be launched next month in Cleveland.

Leaders of the five operating brotherhoods tentatively are planning a conference in the Ohio city about mid-February to draw up demands, including one for a general pay boost.

The operating unions—engineers, firemen, conductors, switchmen and signalmen—represent some 350,000 railroad workers in active service. Discussions also are in progress among the 14 non-operating brotherhoods—representing another million rail workers—for a new wage movement. No date has yet been set for a joint meeting of this group.

Even the "big five" operating unions will not get down to actual negotiations with the carriers until May at the earliest.

SENATE TO ACT ON BIG, LITTLE INCH PIPE ISSUE

HARRISBURG, Jan. 29.—(INS)—A resolution memorializing Congress to defer sale of the big and little inch pipe lines was in line today for Senate action.

The resolution was reported out of the Senate mines committee yesterday, but was not expected to be acted on until Monday.

It was co-sponsored by Republican Senators Montgomery F. Crowe, Monroe, and A. H. Letzler, Clearfield. The resolution pointed out that Pennsylvania's economy would be dealt a severe blow if natural gas were piped into the state, replacing coal as a fuel.

WOMAN'S BEAUTY MAY DEPEND ON CUT OF HER HAIR

BOSTON, Jan. 29.—(INS)—A woman's beauty and personality may well depend on the cut of her hair.

Vernon Isbell of Forth Worth, Texas, member of the Hair Fashion Council of America, said at the Cosmetologists Association convention money cannot make a beauty of a woman who does not possess the hair or the wisdom to follow the expert advice of a hair specialist.

He said one little curl inexpertly cut can ruin a woman's coiffure and damage her personality.

Explain 'Attack' On MacArthur By Japanese Worker

Carpenter With 'Wooden Sword' Hoped To Be Killed In Spectacular Example

TOKYO, Jan. 29.—(INS)—The wooden sword "attack" on Gen. Douglas MacArthur was explained today after MacArthur ordered immediate release of a bewildered Japanese carpenter who made a menacing move toward the general with his crude weapon.

Army officials identified the carpenter as Ichijiro Adachi and revealed that he approached MacArthur last Sunday morning outside the general's Tokyo headquarters.

The official account said Adachi hoped to be killed on the spot and that he expected his spectacular death to draw attention to the "miserable condition" of the Japanese people, or maybe get a job for him.

MacArthur's aides stressed that the general realized that the beginning Adachi was "only a crackpot" and did not intend to harm him.

Aides who witnessed the incident said Adachi did not threaten the general but rather tried to make him a "present" to the wooden sword, which was wrapped in a silken handkerchief.

MacArthur halted briefly to watch members of his honor guard arrest the man, then continued into the building. Later, he took the wooden sword home, but it was not made clear whether the general himself took the sword from Adachi or whether he was relieved of it by the general's guard.

New Bill Gives Relief Fund Boost

HARRISBURG, Jan. 29.—(INS)—Pennsylvania's relief program received new funds today as $23,400,000 was made available under a bill approved by Governor James H. Duff.

The governor signed the bill shortly after it was passed finally by the Senate yesterday.

The measure appropriated state liquor stores' profits to continue the commonwealth's multi-million dollar public assistance program until May 31.

Funds from an $88,200,000 appropriations made in 1945 were virtually exhausted when the measure was approved. Secretary of Public Assistance Frank A. Robbins, Jr., and his deputy, Robert P. Wray, appeared before the Senate appropriations committee to urge passage of the bill.

Begins Prison Term For Stabbing Woman

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 29.—(INS)—Albert Bandi, 58, Pittsburgh, today began serving an 8-to-16 year sentence in Western Penitentiary after pleading guilty yesterday to the fatal stabbing of his common law wife last September.

Bandi originally pleaded not guilty but changed his plea shortly before the prosecution completed its case before Judge James L. O'Toole, Jr.

The prosecution contended that Bandi might have saved the life of Mrs. Catherine Hahn if he had summoned a doctor sooner than he did. The physician was called three days after the stabbing.

BAKERIES ARE BEING CHECKED IN PITTSBURGH

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 29.—(INS)—A checkup of every bakery in Pittsburgh to determine whether health and sanitation regulations are being obeyed today was in full swing.

Howard C. Patton, superintendent of the bureau of food inspection, said, "meticulous inspections were ordered after 30 persons became ill from eating pastries from a small bakery last week."

Monday, first day of the drive, 80 inspections were made, Patton said, and ten violations were uncovered. An additional 15 minor violations also were reported.

The bakery operated by Gebhard Lenz, where the food that allegedly caused the wave of poisonings last week, has been ordered closed.

Do Most Men Wear Ties That Women Buy For Them?

A controversial issue has arisen in a huge industry which literally has men "by the throat."

The issue is "do men wear the ties that women buy for them?" And, furthermore, "do they wear them because they have to, or because they want to?" These intriguing questions started a local survey, and the answers received were varied, to say the least.

One thing they all had in common was the fact that the answers were emphatic—that's certain!

Not Settling Issue

No attempt is being made to settle the issue, for the pros and cons are far too many. The foremost complaint of men is that women do not buy ties that match the man's suits. Women choose ties because the colors or designs strike their fancy, not keeping in mind the suit with which it is to be worn.

A few women also forget the type of man for whom they are buying the tie. He may be conservative or he may be loud, bold or flashy, but whatever he is, the tie should suit his personality.

In the past few years, the trend of men's ties has changed. Gone are the days of the drab, dull and lifeless tie, thanks to Hollywood and Florida. According to the large department stores and exclusive men's stores—ties are becoming gayer, brighter colors with designs that are small, regular figurations to something which resembles an atomic explosion. Hand-painted ties, polka-dots and stripes are also in the running.

Women Shy At Purchases

Although a tie might easily be the solution for a birthday or Christmas gift, women do not like to buy ties. But if the occasion occurs, most of them give the matter a great deal of attention. They study and ponder over the tie, and then make their choice. An interesting note is the fact that the four-in-hand, or (long ties) still leads in sales records, despite the popularity of Sinatra's, Crosby's and even President Truman's bow ties. Another fact discovered reveals that very few ties were returned or exchanged—and that goes even for Christmas ties!

Store managers throughout the city agree that over 60 per cent of ties purchased are by women. Loud ties are for younger or college boys, and as the man approaches middle age, the trend becomes conservative. Many of the women who work in department stores themselves have excellent taste.

Some Replies On Question

All of this leads only to one thing, and that is to ask the men in all walks of life—and find out what they think.

J. O. Huston, manager of Strouss-Hirschberg Company, "yes men wear the ties that women buy for them. The trend is gayer, and women take a lot of time in selecting ties."

Bill Nicholson, student at the Cleveland School of Art—"I don't like anyone else to buy ties for me. Ties are about the only thing a guy can wear that gives him a chance to express his own personality."

William R. Hanna, postmaster—"Yes men wear ties women buy for them. Men like flashy ties and usually like them to match their suits."

Joseph Gociano, Johnson Bronze worker—"No, I don't wear ties women buy for me."

H. W. Bowen, G. C. Murphy manager—"Most tie purchases are by women. Men do wear ties bought by women."

Bill Calderwood, student Westminster College—"Yeah, you might as well wear the ties they buy—it saves trouble."

Leonard Kishhart, of The News advertising department—"Sure, I wear ties that my wife buys for me. Her taste is much better than mine."

Carl Romack, sports reporter, New Castle News—"I buy all of my ties for myself. I don't like anyone to buy ties for me."

Thomas McCormick, of the Castleton Hotel staff—"My wife buys all my ties, they're loud, and I like them. I think the average man does wear ties women buy for them."

Attorney Gilbert Levine—"I buy my own ties, but I have worn ties bought by my wife—if they are conservative."

Anthony N. Carbon, insurance man—"I prefer ties selected by my wife. I don't question her taste at all. I like conservative ties."

So, there you have it ladies! The issue isn't settled, not by a wide margin!

But if you plan to purchase more ties, for an easy gift solution—consider yourself as brave!

Highway Safety Cost Burden To Be Eased By Levy

Real Estate Levies Would Relieve Political Sub-Divisions Of Huge Safety Costs

HARRISBURG, Jan. 29.—(INS)—Political sub-divisions would be relieved of traffic regulation and safety costs financed with real estate levies under a bill today before the Senate highways committee.

The expenses would be defrayed by the state from motor licenses funds under provisions of the measure sponsored by Sen. Elmer J. Holland (D) Allegheny. He estimated the cost of providing traffic safety at approximately $8,000,000 a year.

"Why should home owners pay the bill for these things," Holland said. "Railroads have to supply their own safety devices and the motor vehicle industry should provide funds for highway travel protection."

Approximately $1.06 a year per resident was spent by the city of Pittsburgh when Philadelphia's expenses ran as high as $1.90 a person for traffic protection devices, Holland pointed out.

Renew Drive On McKeesport Rackets

New Threat Is Received By Wife Of Racket-Busting Mayor Of City Tuesday

McKEESPORT, Pa., Jan. 29.—(INS)—McKeesport's racket-busting mayor, Charles A. Kincaid, today answered a threat against the life of his wife by redoubling his efforts to rid the city of numbers syndicates and other vice.

"I told the police to get those guys or else," Mayor Kincaid said, indicating a possible "shakeup" in the police department unless the rackets are eliminated.

Mrs. Kincaid received the telephone threat against her life Monday afternoon.

"You -----, we'll get you yet," she said a voice on the telephone warned her.

Yesterday a number of persons suspected of racket or numbers connections were fingerprinted and submitted handwriting samples to police.

"We don't intend to stop until these racketeers are all driven from the city," Mayor Kincaid said.

Visual Screening Instrument Given Schools By Lions

Presentation Is Made To County Supervisor Of Special Education Tuesday Noon

Presentation of a Tele-binoocular, a visual screening instrument useful in making a visual survey of persons to detect visual defects was made to Miss Hannah Parks, county supervisor of special education, for use in the county schools, by the New Castle Lions Club, in connection with their luncheon meeting in The Castleton, Tuesday noon. The presentation was made in behalf of the club by Harry Helmick, Miss Parks accepted the instrument for the schools and thanked the club for their interest. With this instrument, it is possible, not only to detect impaired sight, but other defects of vision. The club voted to dispense with the noon luncheon meeting on February 11, and in place of this, will join with the women in a Ladies Night program, featured by a dinner and dance in The Castleton that evening. H. M. Sterner, and County Superintendent of Schools John C. Sylling, were special guests of the club. Reports of various club activities and projects were given by the chairmen of the committees in charge.

SCOTT'S SCRAP BOOK

By R. J. SCOTT

IN THE OPEN

I found a talking brook the other day. It came tumbling down out of the hills, gossiping over the many tiny falls and stumbling noisily through the rocky defiles as it sought its way out to the large stream in the valley floor. I was exploring a new stretch of timberland when I came upon this brook. A well defined footpath threads the gorge carved out by this busy little stream, and I followed along this delightful trail, which crossed and recrossed the brook at convenient stepping stones. January rains had filled its storehouses and the brook scampered along, shouting in full throated baritone. The bigger the stream, the deeper the voice. Come a long continued drouth and this brook will change its voice to a querulous high pitched whine. Beneath one jutting rock ledge it tumbled perhaps a foot in direct drop and had carved out a sizeable pool. A score or so of tiny dace skittered about this pool as my shadow passed across it.

Findings Vegetation Growing
 A mile or so upstream the ravine opened out into a wider swale, through which the brook had cut a deep, narrow channel. I ploughed through the sedge grass and in an open sunny spot was amazed to encounter two of the green "anglers" of the skunk cabbage, which had bored their way through the loam and were out of the ground by at least two inches. The calendar noted the date as January 25, but the outdoorsman usually figures it is mid-March when he first notes the hoods of this earliest bloomer. After a half mile of swampy flats the brook loses its main identity in a handful of feeder streams. These come from springs in the hills enclosing this little vale. I followed the largest to its source and found that it sprang suddenly into being from beneath a chunky bit of limestone. Here was the birth place of the talking brook. From this spot it raced away hurriedly, calling its companion spring-fed rivulets to share in the gossip as it "bickers down the valley". The bigger timber has been cut

Usual Winter Birds
 The usual winter birds are at home in this hidden valley. They were actively feeding in the trees all about when a medium sized hawk sped through, low down among the branches. For a few moments there was no sound, as the birds instinctively "froze". Once the hawk had gone from view the usual routine continued. A pair of bluebirds has elected to pass the winter in this sheltered spot. I heard their familiar notes several times during the afternoon.

After finding the skunk cabbage hoods so far out of season I was not surprised when a honeybee came nosing about as I sat comfortably on a wide stump in the sun in any sunlight. In the dead leaf mulch underneath I noted a moving object which turned out to be a wolf spider, lured from hibernation by the mild weather, and quite actively on the prowl for provender.

This new found valley of the talking brook is a welcome addition to my hiking itinerary. For an afternoon of friendly, relaxing conversation I recommend a leisurely stroll along the bank of just such a charming stream. This kind of talk never hurt anyone.

High Level Of Steel Output Is Predicted

NEW YORK, Jan. 29.—(INS)—Iron Age, national metal working paper, today predicted an uninterrupted high level of steel output over the next six months barring a coal strike. The trade paper said production of finished steel products during the six months period "will result in one of the greatest flows of manufactured goods to the consumer that has been seen since V-J Day." Concerning the current negotiations between U. S. Steel and the United Steel Workers (CIO) Iron Age said: "Steel wage negotiations will be inconsequential and will be restricted to legalistic interpretation of contract wordage until such time as a definite settlement of the portal-to-portal pay problems results from legislative and court action."

Mussolini Thug Whitewashes Past In Trial At Rome

Benito's Trigger-man, Held In 22-Year-Old Slaying, Says He Was Good Guy

ROME, Jan. 29.—(INS)—If you want to take Amerigo Dumini's word for it, he was a nice guy all along even though he was Benito Mussolini's trigger man.

The one-time St. Louis mobster volunteered portions of his life story from a jail cell during a lull in the trial of eight men, including Dumini himself, for the slaying of Socialist Deputy Giacomo Matteotti, 22 years ago.

Dumini is old and partly paralyzed now, a contrast to the swagging figure he presented in St. Louis bar-rooms years ago and in Il Duce's hey-day.

He recalled his childhood home at St. Louis, and said his father was a "successful art dealer and painter." Naturally enough, Dumini denied all guilt in the slaying of Matteotti, who was eliminated because of his staunch parliamentary opposition to Fascism.

Dumini also gave Mussolini a clean bill of health with regard to the murder. He said the original kidnappers came from Giovanni Marinelli, treasurer of the Fascist party, "who wanted to ferret out some information about the murder of the chief of the Fascist cell in Paris."

The one-time gunman said he always considered Mussolini a gentleman. In speaking of his own parents—his British-born mother was formerly Jessie Wilson—he said wistfully:

"They were proud of me."

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 29.—(INS)—

Dane Clark lay wearily on a couch today and vowed that never again would he get out of top physical condition.

He'd just received word that as soon as he finishes "Deep Valley" he's definitely going into "Whiplash," in which he'll play a prize fighter.

"You know what that means," he said. "Instead of getting a vacation, which I need, I'll have to go in heavy training to get in condition. I'm completely out of condition now to play a prize fighter."

"You've got to be hard as nails because any excess weight will show up immediately when you're stripped for the ring. I can't go in looking like a fat boy."

"When you're in your early twenties, it's easy to get in top condition but by the time you've reached 28 you've lost a lot of your resiliency."

"So, you can imagine how much enthusiasm I have about going into training."

"I do know one thing. When I get in top condition this time, I'm going to stay there. I'm joining an athletic club, where I'll work out every night or so. Then I won't have to worry about it any more."

Songbird Marina Koshetz is one of the very few screen lovelies who gets a kick out of poking fun at herself.

She said to your reporters, "You know, I have ears just like yours." So you'll understand this remark. It might be said your reporter's ears stick out.

"You're kidding me," we said. "Well, almost like yours," Marina said.

Then she continued: "On the set they call me 'Louis the Glue.' That's because of my ears. You know they try to glamorize every woman, making her look like what she isn't."

"So, every morning when I am being made up, they paste my ears very close to my head."

"That's all right until about 3 o'clock in the afternoon when the hot lights melt the stuff. Then, someone takes a look and shouts:

"Quick, Louis, the glue!"

Ann Todd, the British film beauty, is very impressed with Hollywood. She came over to make "The Paradine Case" for David O. Selznick and she's now consulting Hal Wallis on another picture.

Your reporter ran into her while she was walking along a Paramount street lined with little bungalow dressing rooms for the stars. "Aren't they wonderful?" she said. "Back home we have to use tents."

The program, being presented jointly by the school's art teacher, Mrs. Nancy Stevenson, and the music instructor, Mrs. Emma Richards, will consist of the dramatization of various familiar songs. Included in the acting will be some background of the writing of the particular song with the boys and girls acting out the incidents surrounding the penning of the song by the author.

Students in the class of Mrs. Ruth M. Myers, are planning to present a health program before the student body. The program will stress the rules of health that have been taught to the students in the classes of the school.

In the visual education department of the school, the students witnessed recently the motion picture entitled "William Tell." Previous to the showing of the picture, the pupils heard the William Tell Overture on the school's new record machine.

U. S. Coast Lines Receding Rapidly

CHICAGO, Ill., Jan. 29.—J. Spencer Smith, president of the American Shore & Beach Preservation Association, said that coast lines of the United States were receding at "an alarming rate" with resultant severe property losses to individuals and municipalities.

Smith, chairman of the navigation council of New Jersey's conservation department, said in an address before the meeting of the Crushed Stone Association here that, although millions had been spent to develop highways to serve beaches, "very little attention has been given to the necessity of preserving that which the highways serve."

He observed that 120,000,000 persons use U. S. beaches annually.

Wave Of Crimes Sweeping Japan

TOKYO, Jan. 29.—Crimes are sweeping Japan in alarming proportions, the newspaper Mianichi reported on Tuesday, blaming the "terrible" inflation, repatriated soldiers who have retained the "barbaric mental state of the battle field" and the "ravaged state of national psychology under defeat."

Citing a fearsome rash of organized robberies, swindles and murders, Mianichi observed:

"Not only are the figures amazing but the nature of the crimes is extraordinary. What ordinarily one would expect to happen once or twice a year—a crime that shakes the whole fabric of society—is happening almost daily."

New Castle Tops Arnold 45-32; March Of Dimes Game Tonight

Rea And Black Scoring Stars In Seventh Win

New Castle Center Shines With 16 Points As Section II Leaders Are Downed

BATTLE ELLWOOD FRIDAY EVENING

New Castle High's "Whiz Kids" knocked off the Section II league leading Arnold High Lions here last night at Washington gym 45 to 32 and did it in a most convincing manner. This was a non-league affair.

It was the second time this season that New Castle has upset the Arnold quintet, turning the trick in December 33 to 26 at New Kensington.

The Bill Douglass coached cagers toyed with the Lions in the first two periods, leading at the end of the first session 11 to 5 and at half-time 19 to 7, holding the visitors scoreless from the field in the second period.

Better Game Second Half

Arnold was a much better club the second half of the battle as New Castle took the honors for the third and fourth periods by a lone point 26 to 25, although the Lions never threatened.

Coach Bill McGuire used a number of reserves in an effort to stop the dazzling attack of the "Kids" but to no avail. Coach Douglass used three subs in the game, all three of them figuring in the scoring.

Rea Tops Scorers

"Chuck" Rea, the tall blond New Castle pivot man, was the outstanding performer on the court last night as he flipped in 16 of the Red and Black clads points and played a fine floor game. Don Black was runnerup in points with 11. Don Watters was next in line with seven, and played his customary good game defensively also. Wayne Gray continued to sparkle as a ball handler, but failed to score.

Joe Peck and Fantozzi led the Arnold team in scoring with 15 of the points between them, followed by Zuber with five. The closest Arnold ever came to New Castle was 37 to 30 late in the final session. New Castle lost Black in the fourth period on fouls and also lost the services of Chuck Rea, who suffered an injured knee or the scoring might have been bigger.

Battle Ellwood Friday

It was the seventh win for the Douglass coached lads against six defeats. New Castle will go to Ellwood City Friday night for a Section Three battle that ends the first half hostilities. The locals will go after their second sectional win at the neighboring city court.

Coach Ted Wallace of the Ellwood team was an interested spectator at the New Castle-Arnold game, and knows that his blue and white clads have a tough assignment Friday in downing the "Whiz Kids" on their home court. There were also several other Section Three scouts in the stands last night. New Castle should not be down in the cellar with the kind of basketball they are playing and the other schools know that.

Dragnet Out For Krakauer

Said To Have Been Main Figure In Attempt To Fix Grid Game

GRAZIANO-ZALE BOUT MAY NOT BE STAGED

By JAMES L. KILGALLEN (U.S.S. Staff Correspondent)

NEW YORK, Jan. 29.—(INS)—A nation-wide police search was underway today for Dave (Pete) Krakauer, gambler and central figure in the attempt to "fix" the Giants-Bears pro championship football game.

A police alarm was sent to all 48 states to arrest Krakauer as authorities moved against gamblers tampering with sports.

At the same time it was considered virtually certain that the championship fight between Tony Zale and Rocky Graziano, scheduled for Madison Square Garden March 21, would be called off.

Graziano will appear before the New York State Boxing commission Friday to explain his statement that he had been offered $100,000 to lose a fight with Ruben (Cowboy) Shank.

Young Andrews graduated from New Castle High in June 1945 and shortly afterwards entered the navy. He is well known locally in baseball as well as football and basketball, having played in the American Legion baseball league while in high school, being a pitcher of somewhat better than average ability. He is a southpaw. Andrews is six feet and weighs about 150.

Baseball Family

Andrews while in service played on the baseball team at both Sampson and Bainbridge and made a fine showing. It is reported. Andrews will be given a thorough looking over by the Giants at Palatka, Florida, where he will receive a tryout with the New York Giants.

HOUSE LEAGUE GAMES

In the House league at the "Y" last night the Milton A. C. trimmed the Keystone A. C. 38 to 27 and the Wings tripped the Redskins 43 to 32.

The second member of the University of Illinois Big Ten and Rose Bowl champions—Bill Huber—has signed with a professional football team.

Midland Hands Shenango Defeat

Midland High came roaring out of Section 5 last night for a non-league game at Shenango and dumped the East New Castles 44 to 23 with Andres, the tall center-jump man, the star performer with 26 of the points, being all over the court seemingly as he dived in 12 field goals. Midland did not give Shenango a point in the final period, after leading 15 to 9 the first period, 23 to 19 at the half and 37 to 33 the third period. Cochran was best for the Nabsas coached machine with 12 points.

In the preliminary game the Shenango Jayves won from Midland Jayvers 30 to 28. Friday Princeton is at Shenango for a sectional battle.

Wampum Hi Upset By Beaver 54-46

Wampum High Indians, leaders of Section 21, got a very unpleasant surprise last night as the Section 5 Beaver High team plucked their feathers, 54 to 46, at the Wampum High court. Wampum had previously beaten Beaver at Beaver in a non-league game.

The complexion of the game changed in the final three minutes when Wampum held at 38 to 34 lead, then things started to happen and Beaver came roaring out of its shell and dumped them in from all angles and left the Indians breathless and their feathers drooping. Young Willoughby with 24 points for Beaver was the outstanding star in the game. He was all over the floor and seldom missed getting the nets for nine field goals. Beaver was good at the foul line where they really won it, making 12, while Wampum caged but four fouls.

It was strictly a Beaver night, the visitors taking the preliminary too, 38 to 36, Friday Wampum plays New Wilmington at New Wilmington in a loop battle.

Meanwhile the "heat" was on as Broadway gamblers moved from their favorite haunts.

Four alleged gamblers were questioned but their names were not made public and a score of other "characters" were sought.

Graziano has said he could identify the men who approached him about the "joke" offer of $100,000 and has promised he would do so if they were arrested.

Krakauer, supposedly suffering from a heart ailment, was reported heading south in an automobile.

Krakauer was identified by District Attorney Frank S. Hogan as the "brains" behind Alvin J. Paris, convicted of attempting to bribe two members of the Giant pro football team.

Krakauer is known as a big-time bookmaker, police said, and has a record of eight arrests. He left a Bronx hospital after Paris started talking before a grand jury that returned indictments against Krakauer, Harvey Stemmer and Jerry Sarowitz on charges of conspiracy and bribery.

Krakauer, Stemmer and Sarowitz were indicted on the same charge under which Paris was convicted of offering a bribe to Merle Hapes and Frank Fliechok to "throw" the Giant-Bears championship game.

Stemmer is serving a sentence of a year in jail for bribing five Brooklyn college basketball players and pleaded not guilty to the charge.

Zarowitz surrendered to Hogan and also pleaded not guilty.

No Seventh Place Finish This Year, Bill Herman Says

New Manager Will See To It That Pirates Play Colorful Hard-Running Game

By JIMMY JORDAN
(International News Service Sports Writer)

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 29.—If Manager Billy Herman has his way, the Jack-lustre Pittsburgh Pirates who floundered around in seventh place last season will be a colorful, hard-running offensive ball team in 1947.

Herman stopped off in Pittsburgh recently for conferences with the Pirate front office, talked shop and then champed at the bit as he waited to head for Miami Beach, Fla., to open the Bucs' spring training camp.

He was sure of but one thing, insofar as the 1947 Pirate lineup was concerned. He said:

No Lineup In Mind
"I haven't any lineup in mind, and I don't know who will play what position."

"There are a lot of fellows on the roster I never saw play. I've played against some of the others, but I've found out that you don't know a ball player until you play on the same team with him."

Herman added:
"I can tell you this much, though. You'll see a hard-running, offensive ball team out there this year. There won't be many sacrifices at the plate, playing for that one base. I want them to hit that ball and run—and run hard."

Herman, obtained from Boston at the end of last season and in his first managerial job, pointed out that the Pirate roster included 11 infielders, eight outfielders, 12 pitchers and five catchers.

He said:
"Our training camp will be more or less a tryout camp. I will pick the best 25 from those 45 players and I'll weed that bunch down to what I believe is the best team." Asked if he planned to play third base himself, Herman said:

"I'm going to try out for the team, but I hope I don't make it. If I feel Handley (Lee "Jeep" Handley), who held down the hot corner most of last year, or anybody else can do it better, the job is theirs."

In answer to a question as to what he intended to do with Hank Greenberg, recently obtained by the Pirates from Detroit in a deal that still has the hot stove league boiling, Herman said:
"I would say he probably would be in left field at first, I understand. He'll have to prove himself before he gets the job, though."

Then he talked about his spring training plans. He said:
"One thing, we won't waste time with calisthenics. We'll go into camp and do just what we'll be doing all summer—play baseball! We'll work on such fundamentals as double-plays, cut-offs, base-running, and the things that will either score runs or prevent somebody else from scoring runs."

"We're going to play baseball this summer. And we won't finish in seventh place, either. You can bet on that."

Franklin led at the half, 21 to 20. The final half was all Franklin, 28 to 12. Franklin will play New Wilmington at the Franklin court Friday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock, it was announced.

Fenati Brick Company Here Quarter Of Century

To many folks in New Castle, February 2, means Ground Hog Day, but to Humbert M. Fenati, proprietor of the Fenati Brick Company, it means a lot more than that, for February 2 will mark the 25th anniversary of his engagement in the brick business here.

During that time, Mr. Fenati has turned out millions of bricks, as a matter of fact his company made over eleven and a half million of them last year, and next year, will turn out around thirteen million.

On February 2, 1922, Mr. Fenati leased the plant of the Liberty Clay Products company, along Neshaunock creek, some distance beyond the old Paper mill, and began the manufacture of brick. He sold exclusively to the Pearson Brick company, and operated under that name.

Buys Newer Plant

In 1940, this plant was abandoned largely because it was in an out of the way place, and hard to get in and out of and was becoming worn out. Much of the product was being trucked out. Another reason was that Mr. Fenati took over the holdings of the New Castle Mining and Clay Products Co., just outside of New Castle on the Harlansburg road, and began operations under the name of the Fenati Brick company. This latter plant was remodeled and brought up to date, and it is here that his entire interests are now centered.

The Fenati Brick company engages entirely in the manufacture of fancy face brick, with a small percentage of common brick, and turns out enough bricks each day to build three fair sized homes, approximately 45,000.

Employ Forty Men

The company employs 40 men the year round, and last year had a payroll of $119,600. The shale, which goes into the manufacture of its products is dug immediately adjacent to the site of the plant in Hickory township, is ground up, and mixed with water, and the coloring ingredients, if different colored bricks are being made; after which it is pressed out through a mold, the size of the brick where it is picked up on a conveyor belt, and started down the line. As it progresses, along the line, a machine set with fine wire, the width of each brick, revolves a quarter turn, and cuts the bricks apart, after which they are picked up by another belt operating at a little higher rate of speed, which separates them. A group of men pick the bricks up here and place them on a car, spacing them so the air can get between them. After the car is loaded, it goes into a drying kiln, where much of the moisture is extracted, after which it goes to the burning kilns.

After the kilns are loaded to capacity, the entrances are sealed and the furnace is fired, being stepped up to a heat of 2,000 degrees, which is maintained for about a week. Then the fires are drawn, the entrances are opened, and cool air is circulated to hasten the process of cooling. After several days, the kilns are cool enough that the bricks can be taken out and loaded for delivery.

The entire output of the plant is sold exclusively to the Pearson Brick company of New Castle and to Quality Materials company, of Buffalo, N. Y.

Comes Through Crises

Twice during Mr. Fenati's career in the brick business, have business conditions affected the output of the plant. The first was the great depression in 1930 to 1941; and the last was the restrictions placed on plants such as his during the war, when Mr. Fenati was only able to get nine men to man the plant even though the market was crying for brick. In all this time, however, Mr. Fenati has never failed to meet a payroll and his men have received their money at the appointed time.

Two employees have been with Mr. Fenati ever since he started operations. Ted Clark, office manager beginning on March 13, 1922, and L. F. Davenport, machinist, on March 26, 1922. Another old timer with the company is Sam Stevie, who joined the company later in the year of 1922, and the latter's son, Ralph Stevie, who has been with Mr. Fenati since 1928. There are many others who have worked ten years or more with the company.

A year ago last Christmas, Mr. Fenati gave the men as a Christmas present, a week's paid vacation if they had been with the company one year, and two weeks if they had been with him two years or longer.

Everything used at the plant is bought, whenever possible, locally, the coal bill alone last year amounting to $32,066.26, bought from a locally owned firm.

Treat Navy Men Injured In Crash

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 29.—(INS)—Four navy men injured in a plane crash in Nova Scotia last Friday were undergoing treatment today at the naval hospital in Philadelphia.

The men, flown to Philadelphia in a four-engine transport are Lt. J. G. Smith, of Oakland, Calif.; Lt. (jg) Donald A. Swanson, of Jacksonville, Fla.; Lt. (jg) F. A. Lawrence, of Cambridge, Mass.; and Charles P. Fry, of Carnegie, Pa.

Hospital attaches said one of the patients, despite bone fractures and numerous bruises, is in "really serious" condition.

Seven persons in all were hurt when the twin engine plane overshot the field at Halifax in an emergency landing enroute from Patuxent River, Md., to Argentina, Newfoundland.

Smoke Elimination Coming For Cities

Railroad Presidents See Electrification And Streamlining For Railroads Of Future

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 29.—(INS)—Electrification and streamlining are being given top priority in the railroads of the future, according to railroad presidents meeting in Pittsburgh.

Cleaner travel, greater comfort and more speed are passenger essentials, they agreed last night at the 40th annual dinner of the Traffic club of Pittsburgh.

Clark Hungerford, of St. Louis, president of the St. Louis-San Francisco railway, said smoke elimination "is coming to all cities," adding:

"Railroads will not quit using coal, but they will burn more of it, instead of letting it go up in smoke. There will be more Diesels, too."

F. J. Gavin, of St. Paul, president of the Great Northern railways, said his company will soon receive 23 new streamliners. Pittsburgh aluminum, steel and allied industry officials said purchases of aluminum and stainless steel are "on order" for future streamliners.

Railroad men said there is a heavy demand for freight cars of all types, in addition to passenger space, because equipment which couldn't be built during the war must be replaced.

PHILADELPHIA—The 20,600-ton USS Ranger, the nation's first aircraft carrier, will be scrapped at Sun ship yard but will add another "first" to her list. The 14-year-old carrier will be the first carrier to be scrapped. She was active throughout the war, serving at Casablanca, in the North sea and the Pacific battle areas. She was the first carrier to cross the Arctic circle.

B. & O. President Tells Of Railway Needs Of Present

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 29.—(INS)—Labor-management harmony and more railroad income to balance expenses are chief U. S. needs today, according to Roy B. White, Baltimore & Ohio railroad president.

White told railroad, industry and banking officials in Pittsburgh last night that the nation cannot stand another round of high wage and price increases, adding that prosperity depends on production without strife.

The railroad president declared that labor and management are equal following the swift growth of labor organizations to maturity. He asserted that each should assume equality at the bargaining table, "willingly, or otherwise."

However, such equality cannot be achieved while industry is bound by certain basic laws and labor is not, he said.

White declared that recent rate increases granted railroads will not bring total relief to increased costs. He warned that railroad income and outgo must be balanced, "or the benefits of private management of railroad service will be lost to the public and to railroad labor."

White called for fair treatment of railroads, pointing out the government plans to spend $800,000,000 this year on airports, waterways and highways, while railroads pay their own way.

White spoke to business executives attending the 40th annual dinner of the Traffic club of Pittsburgh.

'End Times', Subject Of Rev. M. F. Scruby

"The World's Symphony of Sorrows—Then Shall the End Come" is the subject of the address Rev. Moreton F. Scruby, of Dayton, O., has chosen for the service this evening at 7:30 o'clock in the Alliance Gospel tabernacle, Pearson street.

Rev. Scruby will attempt to answer such question as "Has God revealed the future?" "Why do powerful nations openly discuss their plans for future wars at a peace conference?"

Tuesday evening the Pearson street church was filled to capacity to hear a frank and vivid discussion of the atomic bomb in the light of the Bible. The Ellwood City C. B. M. C. quartet favored the audience with two selections.

Tomorrow evening another timely address will be given by Rev. Scruby on "Russia, Rome, the New Japan and Coming World War in the Light of Bible Prophecy."

CORRECT NAME OF WIDOW WHO REMARRIES

Question: When a widow remarries, does she retain her first husband's surname and use it as her middle initial, thus: Ruth Brown becomes Mrs. John Jones. At Mr. Jones' death, she marries Smith. Is she then Ruth Jones Smith or Ruth Brown Smith?

Answer: Technically, she is Ruth Brown Jones Smith, but it is optional which middle initial she retains.

Question: How should a divorced woman sign her name and what is her correct form of address?

Answer: Proper signature: Christian name, maiden name or initial, divorced husband's surname. For instance: Ruth Brown (or B.) Jones. Form of address: Mrs. Brown Jones or Mrs. John Jones—not Mrs. Ruth B. Jones, unless the court rules otherwise.

Question: I am to be married soon and would like the answers to the following: (1) Is it necessary that a thank-you note be sent for each gift received at a shower or is general verbal thanks at the shower sufficient? (2) If the bride wears a white dinner dress (minus train) at a home wedding may the groom and best man wear business suits? (3) For business purposes, how should I sign my name after my forthcoming marriage?

Answer: (1) While it is not essential that you write a thank-you note for shower gifts for which you gave verbal thanks, it is a nice gesture and one always appreciated. (2) The groom and the best man should wear dinner clothes. (3) Ruth Brown Jones is your correct signature or "B" for your middle initial. To those not knowing how to address you, add underneath in parenthesis (Mrs. John Jones).

Question: I have been invited to a tea given in honor of a graduate. Should I present her with a gift?

Answer: A gift is not obligatory, but it is customary for friends of the graduate to give her mementos of the happy occasion.
